French Stiffen Madagascar Resistance

U. S. WEIGHING MOVE AGAINST VICHY BASES

Use of Air Force Against British on Island Held Hostile Act.

COMMANDOS ADVANCE

Approach Diego Suarez as Washington Eyes Guiana, And Martinique.

(By Associated Press)

British troops plunging 20 miles through the jungles in French Madagascar were reported meeting "stiffening resistance" today as Washington considered a possible United States move against Vichy-controlled bases flanking the Panama Canal.

Washington diplomatic sources said the Vichy government's fight against British occupation at Magadascar island could be construed as hostile to the United Nations and that it raised the question of whether French bases in the Caribbean—Martinique, Guadeloupe and French Guiana—should be allowed to remain in Vichy hands.

A bulletin from French headquarters on Madagascar said the island's entire air force had been thrown into action against renewed British bombing attacks and declared:

"We are resisting along the first line of redoubts.'

London military quarters said the British commandos, infantry and marines who landed on the 1,000-mile-long island at dawn yesterday were now closing in on the key Diego Suarez naval base.

These quarters acknowledged that the island's defenders, under orders from Vichy to fight to the end, were putting up sharp resistance but said the British advance was progressing "satisfactorily."

Vichy reports last night said the British, estimated by the French at 20,000 troops, had reached the town of Andrakaka, only four miles from Diego Suarez.

The German-controlled Paris radio said: "Fighting has been going on in Madagascar for 24

FACES CHARGE

Truck Driver to Be Accused Of Manslaughter, Lutz Says.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz said a second-degree manslaughter charge would be filed today against William E. Ross, 34, Grand Rapids, Mich., truck driver, in connection with the death of Charles F. Crump, 65, of Ashley, in a traffic accident yesterday morning south of Lexington.

The prosecutor said his investigation showed that Ross was driving on the wrong side of U. S. route 42 when the truck and Crump's car sideswiped, toppling a load of steel shafts from the truck onto the automobile. Crump was killed instantly when the steel crushed his car.

Ross, driver for the Interstate Transport company, was taken to General hospital last night where it was revealed that a vertebra in the lower part of his back was cracked in the accident. His injury was not regarded as serious, however.

PILOT BLAMED

Army Board Says Flier Failed To Gauge Speed of Planes.

ORLANDO, Fla. — (AP) — The crash of a multi-engined bomber and a pursuit plane, fatal to four second lieutenants and three privates, was caused by the failure of Lieut. Robert S. Boyle, 23, of Chillicothe, O., pilot of the pursuit craft, to judge accurately the speed of the two ships, an army board of inquiry reported today.

After the collision in flight, both planes burned. No bodies were recovered from the bomber.

Baby Dies After Oil Stove Blast

Infant Mother Grabbed From Blazing Crib Succumbs Later.

The heroic rescue efforts of his mother proved futile last night when Charles Lust, four-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lust, died in Mansfield General hospital from burns suffered at noon yesterday when a kerosene stove explosion ignited the infant's bed clothing.

The mother suffered first degree burns about her hands when she snatched the baby from his blazing crib and tried to stifle the flames. She was sufficiently recovered to be discharged from the hospital last night.

Private funeral services for the infant will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Munz funeral home in Bucyrus, where the Lusts formerly resided. Rev. Carl Lieder, pastor of the Martin Luther church near Bucyrus, will preside, and burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Survivors include the parents, a brother, Bobby, 2, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lust, and Mrs. Lust's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stoltz.

The grandparents reside near Bucyrus. The parents of the child moved to Mansfield from that city a year and a half ago.

BUSINESS JAM FLOODS COUNCIL

Blackout Ordinance Ordered Held Up For Thorough Study During 3-Hour Session.

By WILLIAM F. MURRAY

In a three-hour meeting in which more than 30 pieces of legislation were introduced, city council last night deferred action, pending further study, on an ordinance setting up blackout and air raid regulations for Mansfield for the duration of the war.

Holding one of its longest meetings in several months, council pushed through a pile of legislation calling for everything from the construction of a bay-window to the setting up of a special board for the investment of idle city funds in government securities.

Councilman C. N. Shultz recommended that an ordinance which would give Mayor W. J. Locke power to promulgate emergency orders for the purpose of insuring the efficiency of blackouts or air raid precautions be referred to council as a "committee of the whole" for study. His motion was approved unanimously.

The proposed ordinance would give Mayor Locke the power to issue rules and regulations restricting the display of lights and the activities of civilians during

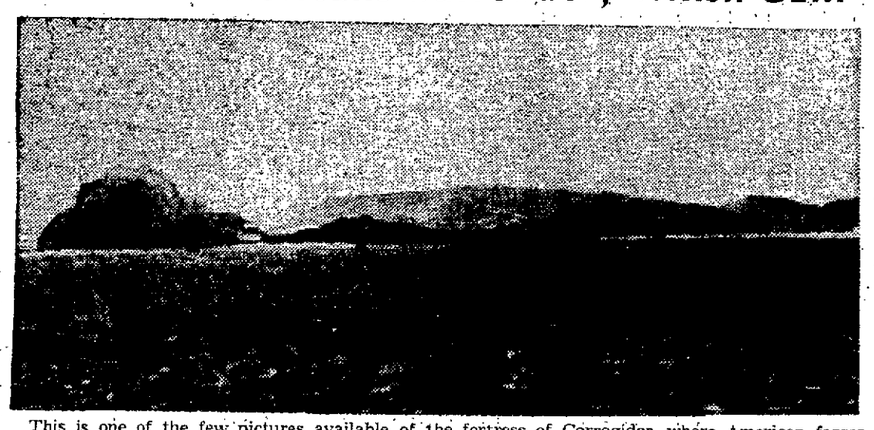
Where Americans Surrender, British Gain



This is one of the few pictures available of the fortress of Corregidor, where American forces have finally surrendered to the Japanese after a gallant but hopeless defense of the island stronghold.

This is the naval base of Diego Suarez, on the island of Madagascar, French possession, which British land and sea forces are wresting from the French to protect shipping lanes to the Middle and Far East.

SPRENG, PARSEL HONORED BY U. S.

Purple Heart Awards Given Posthumously; They, Seven Others Died In Crash.

Second Lieut. Robert P. Spreng of Mansfield and Capt. Elmer E. Parsel of Plymouth, Richland county's first two known victims of World War No. 2, today received posthumous decorations from their country, along with the seven others who met death with them in an airplane crash April 2.

The announcement of the awards, made at New Delhi, India, contained only fragmentary details of the accident.

Major General Lewis H. Brereton, commander of the U. S. army air forces in India, said that the nine fliers were killed in a crash as they were taking off to attack the Japanese navy.

"They met their death," Gen. Brereton said, "as the result of an airplane crash, cause unknown, on the night of April 2."

The nine victims received awards of the Order of the Purple Heart. The posthumous medals were bestowed, Gen. Brereton said, for "extraordinary fidelity and essential service."

The victims, all of whom received the awards, were:

CHECKS COME IN

Quarter Way Mark Reached In China Relief Drive.

Richland county's China relief drive reached the one-quarter way toward the $4,000 goal today, Allen Bond, chairman of the campaign reported.

Each mail brings in additional checks from those addressed in the mail solicitation for funds, and the total this morning amounted to approximately $1,600.

Bond predicted the $4,000 quota would be reached, if the present rate of contribution is maintained by those still to send in their donations to the fund. Checks may be sent to the drive headquarters at 37 Park avenue west, or to Henry G. Brunner, treasurer of the committee.

'Humboldt Days' Arrive as Chilly Air Drops Mercury

The cool spell which has forced Mansfielders to kindle their furnace fires again comes during "Humboldt days" in May and is not unusual for the month, according to the old-time weather forecasters who have observed the weather's habits for many years.

Just what Alexander von Humboldt, German naturalist and weather observer of the 18th century, had to do with the chilly weather in May, has never been made clear. Anyway, tradition has it that he recorded the cold spells during the month and found that they occur regularly.

The cool weather is a little ahead of schedule this year, however, possibly because spring arrived early and the weather was unusually warm late in April.

Worst of the "Humboldt chill" apparently was over today, for the weatherman said it will be warmer tonight and there may be thundershowers. A chilling rain started to fall shortly after noon as the mercury hovered in the 40's.

Weather records show there was nothing sub-normal about yesterday's reading of 35 degrees. It was 34 last May 4 and 37 on the 13th. As late as May 24 last year the mercury dropped to 42 degrees.

CLAMP STRICT REGULATION ON CREDIT BUYING

Federal Officials List 46 Household Items In New Ruling

INSTALLMENTS CUT

All Bills Ordered Paid Two Months After Purchase Except In 'Agreements.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The government today put a set of teeth in President Roosevelt's advice that people ought to pay their bills and keep out of debt.

With only a few hours notice, the federal reserve board put into effect last midnight rules governing the credit purchase of nearly every household item except food, drugs and cosmetics.

Intended specifically to give force to the suggestion made by the president last week about getting out of debt, the rules were designed to keep people from using their credit to bid up prices that enter into the cost of living and to direct more money into war bonds purchases.

They provided specifically how and when credit customers should pay for everything from kitchen pans to clothing—46 items in all—whether bought on regular charge accounts or on the installment plan.

It was the first time that ordinary charge accounts were touched by board regulations. If an item on the restricted list is charged, it must be paid for by the tenth day of the second month after the purchase, or the customer's credit must be shut off on all listed articles. The penalty may be avoided, however, if the merchant and customer are willing to sign an agreement to clean up the debt in fixed installments during the following six months.

As to installment credit, the new requirements are for larger down payments and shorter time to pay the balance. On most items, the rule is one-third down and a year to pay, except that the monthly payment must be at least $5 even

If your last name starts with letters from L to R, today is your turn in the consumer sugar registration which is going on this week at Richland county's elementary schools.

James Bailey, county rationing coordinator, announced today that the registration is proceeding strictly according to schedule. At 9 p. m. Tuesday, when the second day of the four-day registration ended, there was a total of 35,978 registered—nearly half of those in the county.

Of those who registered, 32,979 received ration books entitling them to purchase sugar for use at a rate not to exceed one-half pound per week per person. The others must obtain their rationing books later from their rationing boards.

Today's registration will clear up the L to R group, and the final classification—S to Z—will register tomorrow. Hours are 2:30 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p.

7,000 Believed Trapped In 3 U.S. Fortresses

Hunger, Fatigue, Lack of Ammunition Seen as Contributing to Surrender After Long, Valiant Defense; Number Of Casualties Unknown.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Corregidor has fallen after 28 days of siege.

The doughty American-Filipino troops, who held the island fortress after the loss of Bataan despite sustained air bombardment and a shattering cross fire of heavy shore batteries from both sides of Manila bay, finally were forced to yield to an overwhelming Japanese landing attack.

Surrender of the battered rock was announced in a laconic communique from the war department which said that terms were being arranged.

". . . Resistance of our troops has been overcome," said the announcement, issued at 4:15 a. Eastern War Time.

"Fighting has ceased and terms are being arranged covering the capitulation of the island in Manila bay."

In addition to Fort Mills on Corregidor, a mined, last-ditch fight to prevent the Japanese making use of Manila bay had been waged by American forts on three smaller islands—Forts Hughes and Frank.

It was assumed from the communique that colors had been struck on all four islands.

Hunger, fatigue and lack of ammunition were believed to have worn down the defenders in the closing days of the heroic stand.

The victory which the Japanese won at great cost gave them control of the best harbor in the Orient and strengthened communications lines they have thrust toward Australia and India.

American-Filipino troops continued to plague the enemy with guerrilla warfare in various parts of Cebu, Mindanao and Panay islands.

It was believed here, although there was no official word, that Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright remained with his troops to the end.

He signaled the beginning of the final battle in a message yesterday reporting that about midnight, Tuesday, Manila Time, (noon Monday, Eastern War Time), the Japanese had assaulted Corregidor and that "a landing attack was in progress."

40 Jap Planes Destroyed by U. S. Fliers In Rangoon Raid

BULLETIN

CHUNGKING—(AP)—Japanese troops which drove across the Chinese frontier from Burma are continuing their advance to the northeast into Yunnan province along the Burma road, a Chinese army communique announced today.

(By Associated Press)

NEW DELHI, India—Forty Japanese planes were destroyed and 25 others badly damaged by a United States bomber squadron which struck early today in its second successive raid on Mingaladon airdrome just north of Rangoon, American sources said today.

Three flights of Major Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's bomber force in India delivered the attack this morning, starting fires that could be seen 70 miles away.

Their bombs smashed into the fire-blackened Japanese hangar and gasoline dump, left wrecked by the two previous flights of bombers the night before.

The raid was the seventh in the lower Burma area since American fliers began their aerial offensive from India April 1.

The RAF, timing its blows with the American attack, struck anew at barges bringing Japanese war material and perhaps troops up the Chindwin river on the Burma front 400 miles to the north.

The Americans met strong anti-aircraft and fighter plane opposition, a U. S. Army air force headquarters communique said, intimating that Mingaladon was perhaps the chief of all the Japanese air bases in Burma.

While the weary British land forces continued a rear-guard action along the Chindwin, aided by

Japs Rule Manila Bay As Corregidor Falls

7,000 Men, Women Believed In Three U. S. Forts Taken by Enemy After Siege; Guerrillas Continue Fight.

At 2 a. m., Eastern War Time, a spokesman for General Hours of official silence passed before first word of the outcome was flashed from Allied headquarters in Australia. Douglas MacArthur, who entrusted his command to General Wainwright after leading the brilliant defense of Bataan, made this announcement:

"General Wainwright has surrendered Corregidor and the other fortified islands in Manila harbor."

Just how many survived the long ordeal of air raids and artillery bombardment was not known, but it was generally estimated there were about 7,000 men and women altogether on the fortified islands.

These included a naval detachment originally consisting of some 3,500 marines and bluejackets who made their way through shark-infested waters to Corregidor when Bataan was abandoned on April 9, and a group of army nurses.

A day of constant artillery and aerial bombardment which swept away the beach defenses of Corregidor preceded the successful Japanese landing on the island fortress in Manila bay, the war department reported.

A communique said that one of the last messages received from General Wainwright before the fall of Corregidor reported that casualties among the defenders were heavy during the last few days, and the constant pounding by the enemy resulted in severe damage to military installations.

For the fourth consecutive day, there were 13 separate air attacks on Corregidor on May 5, Wainwright reported, but the shelling by Japanese 240 millimeter siege guns was more disastrous than the aerial bombardment.

The final artillery barrage destroyed barbed wire entanglements and blasted machine gun installations and other centers of resistance, Wainwright said, and the Japanese brought their assault troops across the narrow stretch of water from Bataan peninsula in a large number of steel barges.

Corregidor's guns replied to the enemy artillery fire and shelled truck columns in Bataan during the last day, Wainwright reported, but the counter-battery fire was severely handicapped, as it had been throughout the siege of the Manila bay forts, by lack of aerial observation.

Wainwright also reported that the Japanese had landed reinforcements in the vicinity of Malagang near Cotabato on the island of Mindanao, and were moving a considerable force in steel barges up the Pulangi river in Mindanao, near Digos, on Davao gulf in Mindanao, where American-Filipino forces have dealt severe blows at enemy installations in sudden raids.

The Japanese are now bringing heavy pressure against Wainwright's troops in these areas, the communique said.

Since Dec. 29, when 35 Japanese bombers subjected Corregidor to three-hour attack, that island alone had had 300 air raids. For the most part, sharp shooting gunners in the fortress kept raiding bombers at such high altitudes that their aim was ineffective.

Time Dulls Value Of Forts' Capture

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The Japanese have gained a major strategic victory in capturing the Manila bay fortresses, but it would have been vastly more valuable to them three months ago.

In that respect, officials said today, the garrisons on Corregidor island and at her sister forts carried out their assignment—last ditch resistance and infliction of the greatest possible toll on the enemy.

"The defenders did their job and did it well," one official said. "The Japanese have paid a high price to control Manila bay."

FRENCH FIGHT BACK ON ISLAND

hours, and a handful of French colonials, without hope of help or reinforcements from the home country, has been fighting step by step against the British aggressors."

Acting with the full consent of the United States, the British moved into Madagascar to prevent a threatened Axis seizure of the strategic island, which commands Allied sea communications to the Middle East, India and China.

France's pro-German Premier Pierre Lavall bluntly ignored the warning contained in an American note to Vichy that "any warlike act permitted by the French government against the government of Great Britain or of the United States would, of necessity, have to be regarded as an attack upon the United Nations as a whole."

While French planes fiercely attacked the British occupation forces, a Madagascar communique disclosed that the French had lost two out of three light naval units which dashed out of the Diego Suarez base yesterday in a desperate foray against British warships.

The communique said British gunners sank the 1,379-ton submarine Beveziers and the Bougainville, variously described as an auxiliary cruiser and a light cruiser, and damaged a small French auxiliary cruiser. Most of the crews were saved

Madagascar's land forces were estimated in London at 1,500 Frenchmen and 3,700 colonials.

Vichy dispatches said several British planes were shot down by anti-aircraft guns and some of the light British tanks put ashore had been destroyed.

Newspapers in unoccupied France played the story with flaring headlines, but editorial comment was restrained.

Other European war developments:

Russian campaign—Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported German siege guns started fires in Leningrad and asserted communications had been restored with a German army long encircled on the northern front.

This apparently referred to the bloody Staraya Russa sector, 130 miles south of Leningrad, where the Nazi 16th army of 96,000 men had been reported trapped for months

Soviet guerrillas operating in the vicinity of German-held Orel, 200 miles below Moscow, sent a letter to Premier Joseph Stalin reporting that they had killed 5,000 German troops in the last six months, wrecked 16 troop trains, 340 trucks, 29 planes and 33 tanks, blown up 100 bridges and liberated 345 villages.

Soviet front-line dispatches said more than 1,500 Germans had been killed on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow in 72 hours of fighting and declared the Nazis were displaying signs of nervousness by sending up star shells to illuminate no-man's land each night.

Heavy fighting was reported around long-besieged Leningrad, where the Russians said they had stormed and overrun German positions

Aerial warfare—Britain's great bombing offensive struck at German war foundries in Stuttgart for the second night in a row, attacked other targets in southern Germany and blasted Nazi airdromes in northern France and the low countries.

German warplanes carried out light attacks against England's southeast coastal districts.

French Cruisers Reported Missing

VICHY —(UP)— Two French cruisers—the Marseillaise and the Lamotte Picquet—today were reported as missing since the British attack on Madagascar. It was not known whether they had rallied to the British cause or were attempting to rejoin French warships in Indo-China.

The Marseillaise is a new cruiser, finished about the time the war started. She is of 7,600 tons.

The Lamotte Picquet, of 7,250 tons, was built in 1926.

Treat Constipation This Gentler Way!

Many folks say that almost as bad as constipation are harsh cathartics and purges. That's because many medicinal laxatives work this way: they either prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body.

Now comes news of a gentler and pleasanter way of treating constipation, for the millions of people with normal intestines whose trouble is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. This way is by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, and drinking plenty of water. ALL-BRAN, unlike many medicinal laxatives, acts principally on the contents of the colon and helps you to have easy, normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. if that shortens the payment time.

Both the new charge account and installment credit rules apply to a wider list of articles than ever was covered by previous regulations for installment credit alone. Added to the list of restricted items were such categories as all non-military clothing, luggage, sports and game equipment, all table and kitchen ware, automobile accessories, bedding, linens, all household electrical appliances, yard goods and used furniture. These items were added to former lists which already include new furniture, radios, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, stoves, musical instruments, silverware and plumbing fixtures.

Cash loans under $1,500 from banks or other lenders also were held down to a maximum of 12 months to pay, and in some cases 90 days. Former rules applied only to cash loans to be repaid on the installment plan, but the new regulation also applies to loans to be repaid in lump sums.

In applying the new rule on charge accounts, the board, in effect, counted past purchases of listed items as having been made today. Unpaid accounts involving listed articles now on store books must be cleaned up—or installment terms arranged—by July 10.

The charge account rule allows between 40 and 70 days for payment. For instance, articles bought on June 1, June 15 or June 30 all become due on August 10—"the tenth day of the second month after the month in which the purchase was made."

Usual exceptions or extensions were granted for special cases, including student loans, emergency hospital expense loans, credit to farmers and others with seasonal income, and impoverished persons.

BLACKOUT LAW TOPS COUNCIL BUSINESS JAM

blackouts or air raids or air raid tests.

The Republican majority which mobilized its strength at the April meeting to postpone action on two financial matters brought up by Councilman Fred Miller, Fifth ward-Democrat, relaxed a bit last night.

The finance committee, headed by Councilman Russell D. Porch and manned by two Republicans and one Democrat, approved one of Miller's proposals but asked for additional time to study the other.

Porch told council that his committee "had no objections" to Miller's plan to have $6,000 set aside annually from sewer rental collections for the future rehabilitation of the city's sewage disposal plant.

At the same time, however, Porch said that his committee was "not quite satisfied" with another proposal by Miller that an investment board be created to invest the city's "idle monies" in U. S. government securities.

Council approved Miller's proposal to have a rehabilitation fund for the sewage plant set up but referred the investment board plan to the finance committee for futher study.

Under the terms of the sewage plant plan, $6,000 will be set aside annually from all sewer rental collections exceeding $42,000 and the rehabilitation fund would be limited at $100,000. Miller asked council to provide for the improvement of the plant in about 15 years.

Miller's other plan, however, for the investment board did not win Republican approval so readily.

Although Republican members of council are quick to deny it, political observers believe that state provision that the mayor, auditor, solicitor and treasurer serve on the investment board does not rest well with them because all except the mayor would be, in this case, Democrats.

Then, too, and Chairman Porch admitted this, the finance committee wishes to be assured that council may at any time be authorized to order the board to cash in any investments which it may have made.

Porch's finance committee also requested further time to study a request from the fire pension board that $8,000 be turned over to it for investment.

Council also:

Received a request from the John Todd Park association that the city annex and help develop the parkland.

Gave a first reading to a request from William and Constance Berno for permission to construct a bay-window at 19½ North Park street.

Granted a request to change the name of Ohio avenue to Muth road to avoid confusion with Ohio street.

Gave Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff permission to proceed with the purchase of two new fire hydrants.

Approved the appropriation of $750 to pay the salary of a roof drainage inspector for six months.

Received a petition from five city employes at the sewage disposal plant for a wage increase.

Heard Ralph B. Chapman, secretary of the Mansfield Y. M. C. A., ask that the city contribute $300 toward the maintenance of a WPA recreation program in the playgrounds this summer. The federal government is supplying $12,000 for the salaries of the recreation workers.

Gave Director Wolff permission to enter into a contract with South Boulevards to furnish fire protection for the next 12 months for $250.

Gave Wolff permission to hire labor to carry out a $5,000 improvement at the municipal airport. Previously Wolff was ordered to have the work done by contract.

Granted Director Wolff permission to purchase a street roller for $2,500.

Gave a second reading to an ordinance which would limit Mansfield service stations to a 72-hour week.

Appropriated $495 to purchase a new motorcycle for the city's traffic squad and $250 to purchase radio and other equipment for the cycle.

Approved the annexation of a small area bordering the north side of Grace street.

Received petitions to grade and gravel Lida street between Raymond and Longview avenues and to make a similar improvement on Grover street between Sturges and Lexington avenues.

family's home on Bowman street road. Mrs. Lust picked up the child from its crib and rushed outside, trying desperately meanwhile to beat out the flames. Two Mansfield policemen, Howard Schuck and Herbert G. Palmer, who were passing the house, put out the flames enveloping the mother and baby.

Then, while a neighboring farm couple rushed the victims to the hospital, Schuck and Palmer led a volunteer brigade which extinguished the fire in the home.

A blood transfusion was resorted to by physicians in an attempt to save the child.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spreng of 414 Park avenue west, parents of Lieut. Spreng, received notification of their son's death in a telegram received April 7, as did Ben Parsel, Capt. Parsel's father, who resides near Plymouth.

Spreng said today that the two other second lieutenants named in the dispatch, Duke Paul and George Harkness, were buddies of his son.

In a letter received from Robert a few days after arrival of the telegram announcing his death, Spreng's flier son had enclosed a document of power-of-attorney giving his father power to sell his car and dispose of other business matters. The two witnesses who signed their names to the document were Paul and Harkness.

FIRST CALL!

WE believe the traveling public realizes that in time of war the armed forces have first call on the transportation facilities of this country.

Troops move by train. There's no faster, smoother, better way to transport an army.

But it takes a large number of passenger cars to do the job. Both Pullmans and Coaches. So fewer cars are available for civilian travel.

Warfare, however, no longer belongs strictly to the fighting man. Business men must keep production going top speed. That means a greatly increased volume of traffic.

So the railroads face the problem of providing comfortable accommodations for business people from fewer cars. To the best of its ability, Pennsylvania Railroad will provide for everyone. But should you occasionally be inconvenienced—as, for example, be obliged to take an "upper" instead of a private room or a "lower"—we ask that you accept it with patience and understanding. The armed forces come first!

PARKING METER PURCHASE AT BUCYRUS HIT

Councilman Blocks Passage Of Emergency Measure Tuesday Night.

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus city council was blocked temporarily Tuesday night in its move to pass an emergency measure to purchase parking meters, when Councilman James Kehrer was a discenting voter on an ordinance to lease meters for a nine month period with a view to their purchase from revenue brought in from their use. The legislation was automatically carried over to the next meeting when only five votes were registered in favor of the measure. Councilman J. C. Hull was absent.

Bucyrus was assured of a six month continuation of the recreational program which was suspended under WPA supervision when council authorized Mayor W. P. Whiteamire to enter into a contract with the federal agency for a six month program. The new project will provide for recreation for adults as well as children, and will be under the supervision of the YPA recreational director, Miss Rhea Tracht.

Council heard a report of recommendations from the park committee asking that Aumiller park be annexed to the city to facilitate entering into a contract for liability insurance. The recommendation was accepted and the city engineer and solicitor were authorized to prepare the necessary legislation. The service director was also authorized to secure bids for liability insurance.

The city is still without funds to carry on a relief program, Safety Director Carl Jacobs informed council Tuesday night. All relief has been cut off until funds are made available, he told council. April bills totaled $1,215.63. With a view of working out a solution to the problem, the finance committee, auditor, mayor and safety director, will meet in a called session later this week.

PLAN PARADE

Bucyrus Elks Arrange For Flag Day Observance.

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus Elks club today announced that an elaborate Flag day service would be sponsored by the organization.

A parade followed by a program, with a prominent speaker engaged, are included in the plans, Exalted Ruler R. L. Marquart has announced.

All patriotic, service and civic organizations and members of the 753rd Engineers Battalion now stationed at the fairgrounds, have been invited to participate in the service. A. E. Socin is chairman of the arrangements.

SCHAAF HEADS SHELBY ROTARY

SHELBY — Principal O. H. Schaaf of Shelby high school was elected president of the Rotary club at the annual reorganization session this week.

Other officials chosen were H. L. Dibble, vice president; and William Doty, secretary-treasurer. The five member board elected included Dibble, Doty, Stanley Kime, Foster Stevenson and Ray Dudenhaver. The officers will be installed in July.

Principal Schaaf was named as the delegate to the annual convention of the 157th District of Rotary at Toledo on May 17, 18 and 19.

GALION HIRES NEW TEACHERS

GALION — Two new teachers were hired by the Galion board of education when it met in regular session Tuesday night. Robert Payne, of Mt. Gilead, was elected assistant coach, to assist in both basketball and football coaching. Mary Helen Welch, of Ashland, was hired to fill the vacancy caused by the marriage of the former Peggy Eller, as director of girls' physical education.

Payne is a graduate of Ohio Northern university with a B. S. degree in physical education. For the past year he has served as the football coach at Columbiana, Ohio.

Miss Welch attended Ashland college for two years and then transferred to Ohio State university where she will be graduated in June in the physical education department.

TEACHER RESIGNS

GALION — Earl Sommers, teacher in the machine shop department of Galion high school, resigned Tuesday in order to accept a position in the employe training department of the Perfect Circle Piston Ring Manufacturing company at Hagerstown, Ind. He will begin work there on Monday, May 11.

Sommers stated that he will be at Hagerstown for ninety days and then will be transferred to Richmond, Ind., to the campany's new plant there.

PLAN SERVICES

BUCYRUS—Tribute to soldiers who gave their lives in former wars as well as those whose lives have been lost in the present conflict, will be paid by the public in Memorial day services which are now being arranged by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial society.

Joe H. Knapp, president of the society, has asked that officers of all fraternal and patriotic organizations of the city meet with the society Wednesday night at which time plans for the day will be completed.

COUNCIL VOTES PAY INCREASE

GALION — Acting upon petitions received at the last meeting, the Galion city council granted pay increases to employes of 11 city departments, when it met Tuesday night at the municipal building.

The increases amount to five cents an hour for those employed on the hourly scale and $5 per month for those employed on monthly salary. A few exceptions with higher raises were allowed in cases of seniority of service.

The departments which received the wage increases were: fire department, auditor's office, health department, service department, water, electric light office, light and water plant guards, poor relief department, service director's office, and employes of the City hospital.

A total of $30,000 was voted to be transferred from the electric light funds to the electrical light improvement fund in order to arrange for the construction of a new tower at the electric light plant.

Official authorization was given to Mayor William Amann and Service Director Charles Geiger for the employment of an engineer in connection with the proposed reservoir project of the Big Four railroad.

In the consideration of the abandoned street car tracks of the Cleveland Southwestern Railway company, city officials authorized the removal of the tracks, and the sale of the scrap metal to the highest bidder.

Gets Rationing Card, Succumbs; Rites Thursday

ASHLAND — Funeral services for Chester Arthur Hoffman, 48, of Polk who died of a heart attack Monday at 8:30 p. m., will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Heyl funeral home here. Rev. J. C. Infman, pastor of the Third Street Church of the Brethren, will officiate. Burial will be in the Polk cemetery with Veterans of Foreign Wars in charge of services at the grave.

Mr. Hoffman and his wife had registered for their sugar rationing book at Polk school and were visiting at the Maust home south of Polk when Mr. Hoffman suffered the heart attack.

Born Feb. 1, 1894, at Kilgore, Neb., Mr. Hoffman had been a resident of Ashland and Ashland county for the past 17 years. He was employed as a machinist at the F. E. Myers and Brother company. He was a member of the V. F. W. post 1067 and the Third Street Brethren church of Ashland.

Survivors are his widow, Virginia; one son, Jo-Jo, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Samuel Underwood of Casper, Wyo., Mrs. Nora Deeshong of Gordon, Neb., and Mrs. Charles Morrow of Ashland; and one brother, Charles of Casper, Wyo.

FUNERAL HELD

GALION — Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Axe and Sons funeral home in Marion for Benjamin DeWeese, 44, son of Mrs. Anna Loyer Lantz of 429 Harding way west. Burial was in Caledonia.

Mr. DeWeese died Monday morning in the Marion City hospital following an illness of six months. He was manager of the Lincoln hotel in Marion, where he made his home.

He is survived by his mother, of Galion; his father, Harry DeWeese, of Richmond, Ind.; two children, Woodrow Wilson DeWeese and Mrs. Lewis Shoemaker, Bucyrus, and one grandson, Forest Shoemaker, Bucyrus.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1942.

When in doubt and trouble, do a little gardening, even if you have to borrow the garden.

Lawns seem more important now than roads. In a lot of places you can still buy rubber-tired lawn mowers.

"Far-called, our navies melt away," but we build new ones. "On dune and headland sinks the fire," but we light others under our enemies.

A Tenth of Your Income

THE Richland county war savings pledge canvass reaches the half-way point today, and leaders of the drive report it is proceeding satisfactorily.

Paul M. Eliot, chairman of the county's bond sale committee, says that most persons who have signed pledges state that the figure they agree to devote to bond and stamp purchases represents at least 10 per cent of their income. In other words, they are heeding the request of the treasury department for income-earners to put that one-tenth into war savings.

Eliot bases his observations on reports from leaders of the 1,250 workers who are giving of their time and energy this week to make the pledge canvass a success. These leaders say that the folks they're visiting are showing enthusiasm and co-operation about the war savings bonds.

Not until some days after the canvass closes next Saturday will there be any definite knowledge as to the outcome. There will be no partial tabulations as the campaign progresses the rest of this week.

It will be interesting to learn whether Richland county will actually pledge one-tenth. The outcome here and in the rest of America's counties will be studied closely by the treasury department.

It may well be that the public's response to the treasury department's suggestion of 10 per cent purchase of war bonds will determine whether a system of compulsory savings is enacted. If the total pledged falls short, it is likely that the voluntary purchase plan will be dropped in favor of a compulsory system.

The pledge is not a guarantee or a contract. It is the honest statement by the signer of his intention to purchase war savings bonds and stamps in the amount stipulated on his pledge, so long as he is able.

Richland county's May quota is $295,200. June and July will be higher.

Honor for State Authors

OHIO is advertising and honoring its authors. Thanks to Mrs. Myers Y. Cooper, wife of a former governor, the State Library is gathering a collection of books by Ohio writers. Already it numbers more than 3,500 books, representing 1,500 authors. Private subscriptions and the gifts of publishers and writers account for this total. To see such a library is to be impressed by the amount of literary activity the state has produced.

At that, Ohio is not alone remarkable for its writers. A number of other states could make as good a showing or better. If these have not already taken some such step, they will doubtless soon be using this means to gratify local pride.

The judges who decide upon what to admit to such a collection are apt to have their troubles. They need discrimination in order to choose well, and hold to reasonable standards. Also they need a good deal of tact, and ability to take criticism with disarming friendliness. With these qualities taken for granted, it is easy to see that there is great interest attached to assembling the books and great satisfaction on the part of the citizens of the state which sets itself to produce such a collection.

German Trouble

IF WE PRETEND that we are at war merely because the Japanese attacked us at Pearl Harbor we are depriving the greatest of human tragedies of all its meaning," says Herbert Agar in the current Harper's Magazine "We are at war primarily because of the sickness of our civilization." He asks what civilization is, and answers thus:

"Civilization is a set of rules by which most men abide, of promises to which most men adhere. It is a set of institutions, of homely customs, which express the experience of centuries. It has its roots in cultural disciplines, religious and humanistic, which give life its meaning. Man creates these disciplines and supports them, to foster what is good in his nature and control what is bad. When he begins to break his own rules and ignore his customs, civilization sickens."

Barbarism, he says, derides rules and promises, destroys institutions. To the rule of law, customs, promises and self-discipline there is no alternative but terror. Mr. Agar explains why Germany, historically, has remained a weak spot in world civilization and adds, "When one man is under the weather he has throat trouble, another has stomach trouble, our civilization has German trouble."

This neither excuses Germany, nor blames world sickness on a single people, says Mr. Agar. We must heal our own inner weakness, folly and injustice, as well as overcome the enemies outside our nation. His statement is an acute diagnosis of world miseries, indicating means of preventing future outbreaks of the disease. The question is whether the nations will be willing to take the bitter medicine necessary.

Community Sacrifices

COMMUNITIES are making sacrifices these days as well as individuals. The New York state flood control commission had a prevention program amounting to $5,000,000, largely if not altogether financed by federal funds. This has now been put aside until the war is over.

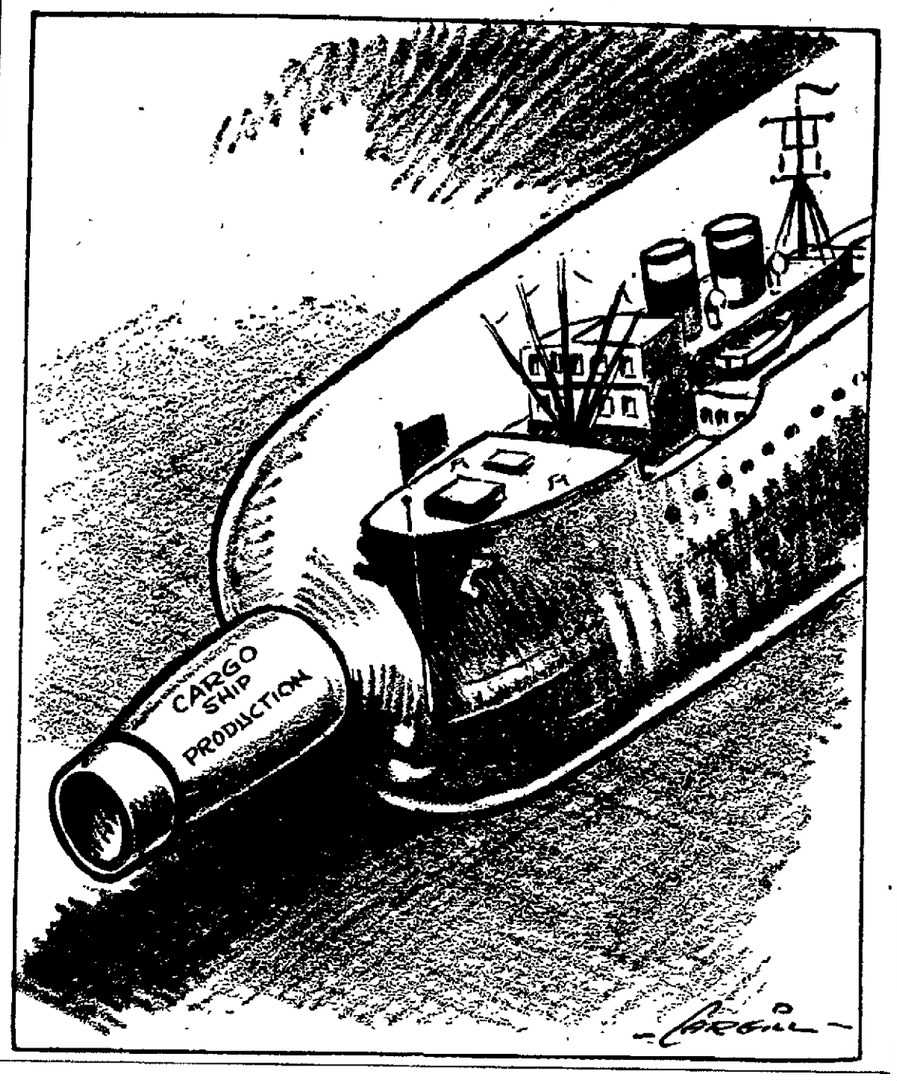
No doubt it would have been useful and warded off some serious damage, but war is war. A lot of worth-while projects all over the country will have to be dropped altogether, because they do not contribute directly toward beating Germany and Japan. Time enough to consider them later.

Those who are inclined to "hark back" will be interested in recalling that just twenty years ago this month Atlantic City announced "a permanent ban" on one-piece bathing suits.

"Youth will be served," and the kids with their bikes don't seem to have any tire problem.

Remember—"Some days must be dark and dreary."

THE BIG ONE RIGHT NOW



Capital Duplication Grows Worse

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WARTIME Washington falls all over itself in every direction. There's no denying that. About 10,000 different emergency details require attending to and no doubt it would be desirable to have a separate agency specializing on each naturally-related bunch of them. The trouble with the agencies is that they were created so fast that they themselves don't know which is which.

When some problem needs to be solved, eight or ten of these groups immediately are on hand to solve it, but, pretty confusingly, they almost invariably do it in eight or ten conflicting, contradictory ways. Put together and averaged, they don't make sense

The current mix-up between Lowell Mellett's Office of Government Reports, Archibald MacLeish's Office of Facts and Figures and Colonel "Wild Bill" Donovan's Office of Co-ordination of Information is characteristic of the state of affairs.

Each is supposed to be a source of enlightenment to the public relative to Uncle Sam's activities in the present world conflict's midst. What puzzles an investigator, though, is that, after consulting all three of them, he discovers that the conclusions Lowell's drawn from his reports, the facts and figures Mac has to quote and the information "Wild Bill's" co-ordinated don't square with one another a bit.

It isn't alone that effort is duplicated; the confusion nullifies it.

* * *

Congress recently took notice of the seriousness of the administrative jam, and decided, first to investigate, and then to correct it. Some agencies, it was argued, ought to be abolished; others ought to be consolidated; all of them ought to be straightened out.

Thereupon a legislative investigation was decreed. It's in progress today. Three separate committees of lawmakers are conducting it. They overlap just as much as any three executive agencies do.

Why one single committee wouldn't be enough nobody explains.

It takes two congressional committees to investigate a certain lone incident—the disastrous fire aboard the steamship Normandie.

Just one committee, for a fact, has been wrestling with the issue of legislation to put a ceiling on industrial profits and wages, but that committee has been split 50-50 right along.

So congress can't very well contend that it's much more cohesive than the executive bureaus are.

In the meantime the government comes out with an appeal to the country, "Don't hoard. Civilian hoarding of life's necessities will hamper our military effort and be a bad thing for the hoarders themselves, later on."

Simultaneously, Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones broadcasts to consumers the advice, in effect, "For the love of mud, begin right now, this spring, to hoard coal for next winter's use." There's likely to be then, he warns, a shortage of fuel, and of railroad cars to carry it, anyway.

* * *

Today is the time for us, as patriotic citizens, to stock our bins. It may be sound economics, too, but that isn't the ground that Jesse puts it on. He's figuring on supply and transportation prospects six months hence.

How reconcile these divergent angles? Answering that query, I hear no echo.

Director James M. Landis of the Office of Civilian Defense is another anti-hoarder. Folks tend, he says, to lay in an over-supply of first aid stuff, in anticipation of air raids and what not. It would be terrible, he remarks, if it were to be carried to such extremes that our scrappers in the field were to run shy on bandages and miscellaneous equipment to patch them up.

Replying, First Aid Director Harold F. Enlow of the Red Cross informs us that his outfit has noted no such inclination on civiliandom's part.

Authorities in the ranks of the higher-ups surely do disagree.

The puzzle is to determine what's what, who's who and which is which while the controversy is going on.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, May 6, 1922.

Chiropractors of Ohio opened state convention here, with headquarters at Vonhof hotel.

Children's party at Hawkins' dancing academy marked close of juvenile classes for season.

Miss Abigail Hartupee and Lawrence J. Herman were married by Rev. D. G. Blair.

Richland Kennel club was organized with Lester Linham as first president.

Lot on Fourth street, west of Carlisle Furniture store, was being graded for use as parking space.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Ober and son moved to Mansfield from Baltimore.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, May 6, 1937.

Giant German Zeppelin, the Hindenburg, was destroyed by a blast and flames at the naval station at Lakehurst, N. J.

Richland county courthouse and jail improvements were being planned at an estimated cost of $14,000.

Mrs. D. O. Meese was elected president of the Senior high school P. T. A.

Jane Williams was elected treasurer of the National Federation of Press Women.

A Great Prayer

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HERE is a prayer composed for priests. Though I am not a Catholic, a friend of mine sent it to me, asking that I remember his own bewilderment in these desperate days.

How can I help but remember when I know how bewildered we all are? No matter what our race or what our service, we all belong to the same order now—we are all consecrated to the same high purpose. Catholic, Protestant, Jew or atheist, our hearts are flung into the same battle for the freedom of the human soul. And so, though I am unworthy, I am passing on a great prayer, and as I pass it I think of the tortured, mutilated men who are slowly being killed in Germany because they love the greatest Democrat and have tried to serve His purpose.

And I am thinking of each one of us who is, in his own way, making some daily sacrifice for the same purpose for which the first great Adventurer gave His life on Calvary. He too fought, as we are fighting, for Freedom and Equality.

My heart is on its knees as I repeat these words:

O Almighty Eternal God, look upon the face of Thy Son, and for love of Him Who is the eternal High-Priest, have pity on Thy priests. Remember, O most compassionate God, that they are but weak and frail human beings. Stir up in them the grace of their vocation which is in them by the imposition of the Bishop's hands. Keep them close to Thee, lest the enemy prevail against them, so that they may never do anything in the slightest degree unworthy of their sublime vocation.

O Jesus, I pray Thee for Thy faithful and fervent priests; for Thy unfaithful and tepid priests; for Thy priests laboring at home or abroad in distant mission fields; for Thy tempted priests; for Thy lonely and desolate priests; for Thy young priests; for Thy dying priests; for the souls of Thy priests in purgatory.

But above all I commend to Thee the priests dearest to me; the priest who baptized me; the priests who absolved me from my sins; the priests at whose masses I assisted and who gave me Thy Body and Blood in Holy Communion; the priests who taught and instructed me or helped me and encouraged me; all the priests to whom I am indebted in any other way, particularly . . . O Jesus, keep them all, close to Thy heart, and bless them abundantly in time and in eternity.

And though we may not be priests, Father, make us all feel that whatever our service may be, or our sacrifice, it is sacred. Keep us, too, close in Thy heart . . . give us a little of the courage you knew as a Man . . . help us to make life free for beauty and joy, for love and liberty, even though we bear a crown of thorns in consequence . . . this I pray. Amen.

Jobs Ahead of Pensions.

It's quite a credit to some half million persons in the country, men and women above the age of 65, that they have refused to settle down on the retirement benefits to which they were entitled under the Social Security act and have preferred to continue work, either holding the jobs they had or going to others.

Despite their age, these people are needed as producers in America today; and while they might have acted simply out of their own best interests it is yet fortunate that they have decided to go on and not call it quits simply because of a certain age line and their eligibility to monthly old-age insurance payments on condition they no longer were employed. Of course, if they later stop work or become disabled, the benefit payments will be theirs.—Kansas City Times.

TODAY IN HISTORY

About to complete its first 1937 trip from Germahy to Lakehurst, N. J., the zeppelin Hindenburg was destroyed by fire and explosion at 7:23 p. m. on May 6 of that year. Of the craft's 97 passengers, 36 were fatally burned.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Grand Strategy of War Affects Roosevelt's Attitude on Labor

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Here is one inside reason why Roosevelt leans toward labor. Basically, the president always has been pro-labor, and continues to be, even though he has become fed up with some labor activities in the past year.

But in addition, U. S. war strategists are convinced that the chief hope of revolution in Europe comes from labor. And most of the psychological warfare strategy being devised here is aimed at influencing labor in Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria and the occupied countries.

Although not generally known, the nucleus of the old Social Democratic party which tried to create a real republic in Germany is still intact. When Hitler came into power, they moved to Czechoslovakia. After the Sudetenland seizure, they moved to Paris. After the downfall of Paris, they moved to the U. S. A.

Fifty Social Democrats from the old Reichstag are now in this country cooperating with U. S. officials.

Furthermore, it is labor in the European occupied countries which is able to assemble or make radios. German labor listens to the radio far more than other classes. Some labor groups even have published very small "underground" newspapers on hand presses and these are distributed by hand.

German labor resents the long hours in munitions factories, the small pay and the lack of food, more than any other group. Also labor is about the only group which was not taken over completely by Hitler. The Communists, his chief opponents, now have long been underground, but secretly active.

To European labor Roosevelt always has been one of the world's greatest leaders. And one thought in the minds of war strategists is to show Europe that the rights of labor here will not be thrown completely overboard during war.

Capital Chaff.

Here is how bitter Premier Laval is toward the British. When he called on U. S. Ambassador Leahy to express his condolences on Mrs. Leahy's death, he said: "Your poor wife was another unfortunate victim of the British embargo." . . . When U. S. district attorneys held their regular meeting in Washington recently they paid tribute to Wendell Berge as the most efficient assistant attorney general to head the criminal division in many years. . . . Jesse Jones has one of the best publicity men in Washington on his staff—Norman Baxter, former managing editor of the Washington Post and publicity man for the Whisky Distillers Institute. Baxter subscribes to all the clipping agencies, bombards editors with letters signed by Jesse. . . . Good explanation of "Your Army" and how the draft works, has been written by George H. Little Business Casualties.

Despite all the government has tried to do for little business, it looks as if thousands of retail stores throughout the country are headed for liquidation of bankruptcy in the next few months. Unable to get either goods or credit, they will not be able to operate when their present stocks run out.

For the time being, they have plenty of goods. They saw the pinch coming and stocked. Inventories have never been higher. But the situation will be different next fall.

In the first place, there will be reductions or complete bans on the manufacture of various consumer goods—refrigerators, woolen underwear, steel desks, bird cages, wafers—you can hardly name an article that won't be affected. And in the second place, there may be little or no credit available for the retailer.

Normally, a retailer has a line of credit with the supply house, which wants to curry favor with him as an outlet for its goods. But today, the supply house is either selling direct to the government, thus by-passing the retailer, or else the supply house has so little to sell that retailers are clamoring for it. Thus the retailer who pays cash gets the goods.

So it looks very much as if one of the tragic symbols of the war will be thousands of "Closing Out" signs pasted across store windows from coast to coast.

Covering Europe By Bicycle.

Julius B. Wood, one of the nation's greatest foreign correspondents, is now with the war department where he is writing bang-up pieces, not for the papers, but for the psychological warfare division to appeal to the peoples of occupied Europe.

Around the war department, Wood is famous for the telegram he once sent to his ex-boss, Frank Knox, now secretary of the navy, then publisher of the Chicago Daily News. Knox had instructed him to cover Russia from Riga, capital of Latvia, to which Wood replied.

"Will cover Russia from Riga if you will publish the Chicago Daily News from Winetka, Ill."

Knox finally told him he could remain in Moscow, but added to his assignment Turkey and the Baltic nations. Wood wired back: "OK, if you will send me a bicycle."

Merry-Go-Round.

A German broadcast recently warned Germans to beware of grousing against the government as secret microphones were installed in trams and other public places. To prove that this was no jest, a record was broadcast of conversations overheard in a subway and in a theater lobby. . . . The recent postoffice ban on his magazine is not keeping William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader under indictment on sedition charges, from using the mails to spread his pro-Nazi propaganda. . . . Secretary of War Stimson is held in the warmest personal esteem by army commanders. Hard-working and open-minded, he never meddles in military operations and backs up his subordinates 100 per cent. Stimson is always at his desk by 8 a. m., and rarely leaves until evening, when he always takes home with him a big bundle of papers that he works over before dinner. . . . Of the 31 U. S. presidents—counting Cleveland only once—seventeen were former members of congress. The first was James Monroe, who was both a senator and a congressman, and the last Warren G. Harding. John Quincy Adams was a senator before he went to the White House.

Proud possession of Edward F. McGrady, able, hard-working former assistant secretary of labor, is a government check for $1, his pay for one year's work as labor adviser to Secretary of War Stimson. McGrady framed the check and has it hanging on the wall of his office. . . . Addressing the Cleveland City club, Federal District Judge Robert Wilkin, a militant liberal, declared, "The open season for industrial strife is over. The forces of democracy must take steps to prevent extortion and exploitation of or by either labor or business."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—All day she sits in a cashier's cage and rings up numbers on a cash register . . . . But she would rather be under the Big Top, doing the sensational bareback riding stunts that used to be her life.

That's all over for Agnes Coleman, however. You don't ride bareback in circuses after you get your neck broken . . . Agnes is one of the few who ever recovered from a broken neck . . . If wasn't broken on a horse, or from a fall from a horse . . . . How'd it happen? It happened in a Brooklyn subway . . . . She fainted from the heat . . . She toppled over and struck her head against a steam pipe.

Now she sits in the cage of the Empire Tea room, at the Hotel New Yorker, and makes change for the customers . . . . But on her off hours she hurries with her friends to the Garden for backstage visits with her old circus chums, who are there, under the Big Top.

This'd kill Jimmy Dorsey, if he knew . . . I happened to be standing in a real estate office when a young man came in and said, "I want to buy a house" . . . Then he hauled out a checkbook, wrote out a fat down payment, and bought a house . . . .

This young man turned out to be Jimmy Dorsey's piano player. . . . "I may be able to pay this off quicker than you think," he said. "I work for a guy who thinks nothing of giving you a thousand dollars as a bonus, or a Christmas present . . . If he does that again, I'm gonna slam it right on the house."

"Cafe Crown" is the name of a play. The Stage Door Canteen is a free-eatery and entertainment center for service men. Sam Jaffe is an actor who plays Hyme the bus boy in "Cafe Crown." . . . When he isn't on stage Sam hurries over to the Canteen and serves as bus boy to the soldiers, sailors and marines, who haunt the place.

It isn't always the understudy who worries about the star . . . Sometimes it's the star who worries about the understudy. Understudies, you know, must be ready at all times to replace the star if she becomes ill. But in "Angel Street" the star, who is Judith Evelyn, never has a bad moment. Conversely, the understudy has been quite ill of late. A new understudy had to be called in and rehearsed for the role. Miss Evelyn—she pronounces it Eve-lyn—gladly took time off to rehearse the new understudy . . . . It was a new twist to the old one about man-bites-dog . . . .

Just one more word on "Angel Street," which you should see, by all means. . . . This play had been kicking around on managers' desks for so long that Pat finally disappeared . . . . They couldn't find him when the play was produced, and his royalties began to mount so rapidly they finally deposited them with the Samuel French company. Now Pat has been found . . . He's in London, serving with the British ministry of information.

A Farmer's Diary

Pear Grafts

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

TWO weeks ago a stranger drove into our drive in a splendid shiny car, and began to alight. He used a cane. When I went to greet him, I felt the goodness of the man in the kind and gentle manner of his speech. Even before he shook my hand and told his name, I felt that I already knew him well.

People stop at our home for various reasons. Sometimes to see the little place we describe as home, sometimes to promote a cause, or sell us something; sometimes to request a favor or pay just a friendly visit—but this man's errand was different.

"Would you accept, as a gift, some grafts from an old pear tree?" he asked. "It is very old and I would like to have someone else who is interested in fruit enjoy these pears. The tree might die or blow over in a storm.

"Why yes—what variety is it?" I inquired.

"I went over to the Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster, and took some of the fruit along," he said. "They hunted through books and bulletins before they finally found a picture of two pears, in natural colors, that seemed to be exactly the same variety. The original tree was discovered on a rough Pennsylvania farm more than 75 years ago, and the farmer on whose land it grew never knew its quality. It is a large fruit, and matures rather late. I have gathered fruit from it almost every year and often thought what delight even a single tree like that can give a man who cares for it.

"I'll send the grafts with my brother who often passes here—or better still I'll get them ready and when you come to the city, drive out past my place and get them. I have some plantings there, I am sure will interest you."

When I stopped, he was away, but the gardener took time to show me all around. The man is a connoisseur of fruits and flowers. He had wrapped the grafts very carefully himself, and enclosed both wax and tape . . . a perfect gift package.

I came straight home and grafted the main branches on a wild pear that grows near the edge of our pond. Buds are already starting on two of the scions. More will grow if the birds will not attempt to perch on the slender ends and shift the connecting lines of growth.

That same evening a neighbor and his wife drove up and gave us a little redbud tree that they had grown from seed. So, bit by bit, our home grounds become enriched, not only by what we plant, but by what our friends share with us.

THEATERS

Family Drama.

Another human interest story based on the life of the Hardy family is set forth in "The Courtship of Andy Hardy," the Ohio attraction starring Mickey Rooney. The usual Hardy series cast headed by Lewis Stone, Sara Hayden and Ann Rutherford and featuring Donna Reed, a newcomer, appears in the film which deals with Andy's efforts to glamorize a wallflower. Donna Reed plays the girl who blossoms into a belle.

* * *

Hollywood Comedy.

Joel McCrea goes out into the world dressed as a hobo to learn the sterner aspects of life in "Sullivan's Travels," the Madison attraction concerning a Hollywood director who wants to do pictures with a social significance. He accumulates Veronica Lake, in the role of a discouraged actress, along the route and she becomes his traveling companion only after she threatens to expose him as a phony. Robert Warwick, Eric Blore and Margaret Hayes are in the cast. "Torpedo Boat," with Richard Arlen and Jean Parker is the co-feature.

* * *

College Musical.

"Zis Boom Bah," a college musical headed by a family cast, is showing at the Ritz with Grace Hayes, her son, Peter Lind Hayes, and the latter's wife, Mary Healy in the leading roles. The story concerns the visit made by a musical comedy star, Miss Hayes, to the campus to see her son, who does not remember his mother. Mary Healy plays the secretary and Hayes has the part of the son. Skeets Gallagher and Benny Rubin are in the cast. "Escort Girl," an expose of "date bureaus," is the second attraction.

* * *

Western Thriller.

Roy Rogers' western thriller, "Nevada City," at the Park shows what happens when an unscrupulous financier makes raids on both a stage coach company and upon a railroad in the hopes of making it appear that each company is responsible for the raid on the other. Rogers plays a stage coach driver who refuses to take part in the war and the cast includes George Hayes and Fred Kohler. "Man With Two Lives," with Edward Norris and Eleanor Lawson is the second picture.

START TRAINING GIRLS, YOUNG WOMEN AT MIFFLIN NYA CENTER

Training of girls and young women for war jobs in industry was started today at the National Youth Administration's Charles Mill resident center near Mifflin.

Five students were signed up and ready to begin their instruction this morning, according to C. W. Handley, manager of the U. S. employment office in Mansfield. Others were expected to enroll this week.

Girls from 17 to 24 inclusive who are accepted as students at the NYA center will be paid $25.20 a month for working on war production while they are learning, Handley said.

Free transportation from Mansfield to the training center near Charles Mill lake will be provided, with cars or station wagons leaving the employment office on North Diamond street at 8 a. m. daily except Sunday. They will return at 4:30 p. m.

Girls and young women interested in training for industrial jobs should apply at the employment center, 50 North Diamond street, Handley said. When reporting for work they should wear suitable clothing—coveralls, slacks, or other garments that will stand hard wear.

The classes are open to applicants from Richland and Morrow counties at present and may be made available later to enrollees from other sections of the state. Under the present set-up, no girls will be housed at the training center overnight. The student workers, however, may buy lunches at the training center.

Enrollees will receive instruction in machine shop work, including operation of lathes, planers, shapers, and other heavy equipment used to turn out war materials.

The municipal tourist camp in Washington, D. C., has lifted the limit of two weeks' stay entirely for people engaged in defense activities.

Ask Congress Rule on Draft Dependency

THE WAR TODAY

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

The fall of Corregidor at long last gives the Japanese use of the strategic naval base of Manila over which this little Gibraltar stood such gallant guard, but the delay imposed on the enemy program of advance by the brilliant defense of Bataan and Corregidor has been of inestimable value to the Allies in the preparation of the all-important defenses of Australia and otherwise getting set for action.

Manila with its defenses was the barrier which the Japs had to crash in order to perfect their attenuated sea communications with the homeland and permit them to race onward towards Indonesia and Australia. Had they not been halted in the Philippines, Australia might long ago have experienced invasion.

One finds it difficult to look upon the surrender of the rock of Corregidor as a defeat. Not only has it made an invaluable contribution to Allied arms but, as President Roosevelt said in his message to General Wainwright:

"You and your devoted followers have become the living symbols of our war aims and the guarantee of victory."

Surely the inspiration which has come to all the Allied peoples from the defense of Bataan and Corregidor is a victory whose value it would be hard to overestimate.

General Wainwright and his men never had a chance to win through against the overwhelming striking power of the attacking Japanese. That the defense held out so long—28 days of fierce siege—is an amazing circumstance which will form one of the striking pages of American history. Our men were without air protection and under a merciless cross fire from heavy artillery on both sides of the harbor. They had run short of ammunition and food. They must have been in a state of physical collapse when the Japanese swarmed ashore and forced their surrender.

Corregidor was in a powerful position. Most of its important defenses were, as in the case of mighty Gibraltar, hewn out of the interior of the rock. Together with its three companion islands—Caballo, El Fraile and Carabao, all of which possess forts—it dominated the great Bay of Manila and prevented one of the world's finest harbors from being used by the Japanese.

Lack of adequate air defense was one of the main causes of our undoing in the Philippines, and the same was true of Malaya, Singapore and Indonesia. Corregidor's rocky strength couldn't offset that disadvantage. Unlike Bataan, there was no way in which further aid could be got to our forces in Manila bay. The Japanese so completely dominated the air and the sea that relief on any considerable scale was impossible.

COMMISSIONING OF CIVILIANS RECEIVES O. K.

House Committee Recommends Bill Requiring Reports Be Made to Congress.

WASHINGTON — (AP) —Reversing its previous stand after a snowballing controversy, the house military committee today favored giving the war department the green light in commissioning civilians for special duty.

The committee voted late yesterday to knock out a rider in the service pay increase bill that would have limited issuance of army commissions to officer-trained men, except in the cases of doctors, dentists, veterinarians and chaplains.

The committee substituted an amendment allowing the war department to use its discretion in commissioning civilians having no military training but possessing "special knowledge, skill, training or experience."

To meet the complaints of some committee members that commissions had been issued in the past without regard to ability or qualification, it was stipulated that the secretary of war must report to congress every 60 days the names, ages, addresses and qualifications of civilians given specialists' commissions.

This, said Representative Faddis (D., Pa.), author of the proposed ban against "quickie" commissions, would prevent "abuses" in the future.

While the war department strongly opposed the original amendment and showed little enthusiasm over the substitute, Chairman May (D., Ky.) said the final proposal would be accepted by the department. He predicted it would have no difficulty obtaining house approval when it reached the floor probably early next week.

The necessity for being able to dip into civilian life for technical and administrative help was stressed by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, who told the committee it would be virtually impossible to obtain competent personnel otherwise. This particularly was true, he said, in the signal corps and other highly specialized branches.

MEETS TONIGHT

County Civilian Defense to Act on District Plan.

The Richland county civilian defense council will be asked to approve a nine-district defense setup for the county and formulate plans for civilian defense activities at a meeting at 8 p. m. today in the common pleas courtroom at the courthouse.

Nine districts of from one to four townships each were mapped last week by Ray Hout, chairman of the defense council. He will ask the committee to approve his plan.

Scheduled to speak to the group tonight will be Municipal Judge G. E Kalbfleisch, who will discuss the civilian program in the city, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, asked to explain the procedure for allocating the country's $18,500 share of state funds for civilian defense, and County Engineer Howard C. Sword, who will discuss the part transportation will have in the home defense program.

NEW ORDINANCE HITS 'JUNK' CARS

Legislation Prohibits Auto Parking For More Than 24-Hour Period.

Owners of "junk" automobiles or others which have been parked on city streets for long periods of time will be liable to fines after June 5.

City council last night approved an ordinance prohibiting motorists from parking motor vehicles on city streets for more than 24 hours continuously.

The ordinance was presented upon the recommendation of Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals who told council it was needed to rid the streets of "junks" and other cars "littering the streets."

Commissioner Boals told council that several persons had left their cars on the streets because they had failed to purchase new license tags or federal use stamps or because their automobile tires were worn out. He asked that police be given the power to remove them as "hazards" to traffic.

Parking was restricted to two hours on North Adams street between Park avenue and Second street, on the east side of Bowman from Sixth to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks, on the west side of Bowman from Third to Fourth streets and on Foster street between Park avenue and Second street.

Another ordinance passed last night prohibited parking at anytime on Library court between Weldon avenue and Mulberry street. Motorists were also warned that traffic could proceed only in a northerly direction on an alley at 252 West Sixth street.

Council passed still another measure banning parking on the east side of Ausdale avenue between West Park boulevard and West Fourth street.

BRIEF ILLNESS ENDS FATALLY

MT. GILEAD—Miss Addie Bell Winget, 51, died at Galion city hospital yesterday afternoon after a brief illness.

Surviving are two brothers, Burr of Mt. Gilead, and Romie of Edison; and two sisters, Mrs. Mamie Kunkle of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Charles McCammon of Mt. Gilead.

The body was removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles McCammon, to remain until Thursday at 2:30 p. m. when funeral services will be conducted at the Bryn Zion church. Burial will be in Bryn Zion cemetery.

DIES IN WEST

A. B. Martin, Former Mansfield Resident, Succumbs.

Word of the death of Arthur Burly Martin, 83, former executive of the Mansfield Webb Works, was received here today from Flintridge, Calif., where he died at his home Tuesday.

Mr. Martin is survived by his widow, the former Elizabeth Bissman of Mansfield. He has been located in the west since he left Mansfield 15 years ago.

Funeral services will be held at Forestlawn cemetery in Pasadena and the body will be taken to Boston for burial.

FIVE MEET DEATH AT CROSSING AS RADIO BLARES SWING TUNES

NEWARK—The combination of youth, jazz music and an automobile added five names to Ohio's traffic casualty list today.

The radio in the car blared swing tunes. Five Newark young persons listened to the rhythmic notes and apparently forgot to listen and watch for the train that bore down on them. There was a sudden smashing and grinding of metal and all five were dead.

But the radio was still playing "full blast" when officers reached the wreckage.

Those killed were: Jean Bush, 15; Barbara Deutsch, 14; Fred Ehlermann, 18; Harry Sullivan, 17, and Kenneth Stockdale, 17.

An east-bound Baltimore and Ohio special train hit the car driven by Sullivan at a crossing three miles east of Newark yesterday afternoon.

The locomotive carried the car about 150 feet. Engineer O. P. Butcher of Newark said he did not see the car before the locomotive hit it. There were no other witnesses to the collision.

State highway patrolman who investigated the accident said it was probable that the youths did not hear the train. Dr. G. W. Sapp, Licking county coroner, said the view of the crossing was not obstructed. He ordered an inquest today.

All of the victims except Sullivan were Newark high school pupils and were taking an after-school ride.

The accident brought a warning from D. K. Finley of Columbus, member of the Ohio State safety council's executive committee, that railroad crossing collisions are "the least excusable of all accidents" and that motorists should be more alert than ever because of the greatly increased rail traffic.

MORE SIGN UP

Blood Donors at Mansfield Tire Enroll Today.

Richland county's blood donors were expected to substantially increase today as employes of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company signed the register to become donors when the Cleveland mobile blood donor unit reaches here May 28 for a three-day visit.

The blood donor committee of Richland county chapter of the Red Cross stationed a registrar at the industry by request and signatures of other industrial workers are expected to be obtained at a later date.

More than 300 blood donors have volunteered thus far and the committee must have at least 500 names by May 15 in order to perfect their appointment set-up and make proper notification before the mobile unit arrives.

Track Coach Harry Mehock was somewhat perturbed today as he prepared for the first all-school track meet tonight at Stadium field. "Some one has started a rumor around that the meet had been called off because of sugar rationing," Mehock reported. "Seems they thought the teachers would be too busy on the rationing program. It might prove a drawing board, but we are NOT going to have the teachers running around in track suits tonight. The kids will do the running."

Louis A. Lamoreux, Mansfield architect who comes from a family of soldiers, today received his orders to report for duty at Cincinnati on May 18 as a captain in the Army "Engineers Corps in Construction." Army life won't be new to him, for he served as a first lieutenant in the Coast Artillery during the first World war. Since that time he has practiced his profession here, designing many Mansfield homes, including "Malabar," the Louis Bromfield home. Recently he has served the War department in connection with drawing of plans for the department's new office building at Arlington, Va. His father, a retired colonel, was a West Pointer, and his brother is a retired major. Lamoreux resides at 167 Euclid avenue.

SENATE GROUP GETS REQUEST ON DEFERMENT

Selective Service Seeking Clarification on Law; Taft Offers Plan.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Selective service officials today asked congress to say whether dependency shall be eliminated as a cause of exemption from the draft, or whether men with dependents shall be conscripted in hit or miss fashion in the expanding army.

Members of the senate military affairs committee disclosed that selective service officials, faced with the probability that deferred classes may have to be dipped into, urged that the entire draft act be clarified.

With the senate committee now considering a bill making allotments to families of soldiers, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), proposed a measure eliminating dependency and providing seven classes to rule induction into the army.

"I offered the bill for consideration, not expecting it to be the final form of legislation," explained Taft. "It is apparent that men with actual dependents will have to be drafted. I want to see an orderly and sound system of doing it.

Selective service officials have informally proposed two suggestions, it was learned. They are:

First, congress can amend the draft act to give them wide authority in selecting from various classes of dependents. Under this proposal, selective service heads could set up uniform rules governing the order of drafting men dependents.

Second, congress can grant family allowances and provide sufficient flexibility in payment of amounts so that actual needs could be met in each case, and men with dependents could then be drafted in order.

Under Taft's plan, these classes for induction would be created: (1). Unmarried men under 35, or those married since Sept. 16, 1940, date of passage of the draft act; (2) Unmarried men between 35 and 45, or those married since Dec. 20, 1941, when the draft act was extended above 35; (3). Married men under 35 without children; (4). Married men over 35 without children; (5). Men under 28, married before the draft, with children; (6). Men between 28 and 35, married before the draft, with children; (7). Men over 35, married before Dec. 20, 1941. With children.

Meanwhile, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey ruled that railroad transportation and coal production are activities vital to success of the war effort and advised local draft boards that men engaged in these industries may be considered for deferment. He listed 62 types of work in the coal industry and 79 railroad jobs as "critical occupations."

Manager Proposal For City Studied By Women Voters

The Richland County League of Women Voters is considering placing before the Mansfield electorate next fall a proposal for adoption of the city manager form of government, it was revealed at the league's regular meeting this week in the chamber of commerce rooms.

The organization will reach a decision on the matter, it was indicated, following more complete study of the city manager form of administration in its own membership. The city manager plan is one of the reforms proposed by the National League of Women Voters for its local branches to sponsor.

Mrs. D. O. Meese, president of the Richland County League, said: "Several members have hoped we could present the plan at the fall election. The League has been given encouragement in promoting the plan by men in influential positions."

There was general discussion on the subject following a talk on the city manager plan by Joseph Neuger, editor of the American Majority.

Appointment of several new chairmen for the coming year was announced by Mrs. Meese. They are: Miss Bertha A. Gregory, wartime service; Mrs. George Ingram, government and its operations; Miss Lois MacKellar, government and its legislation; Mrs. J. M. Hill and Mrs. Leo Wright, social; Miss Justine Sterkel and Mrs. Louis Bromfield, finance committee.

MISS RUBY ROWE WEDS PETER R. GABOR TODAY

Double Ring Ceremony Performed in Parsonage of St. Peter's Church at 9:30 A. M.; Wedding Breakfast Served.

IN A PRETTY double ring ceremony at the parsonage of St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 o'clock this morning, Miss Ruby Inez Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wise, 215 South Diamond street, became the bride of Peter Robert Gabor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. Gabor, Reed road. Vows were exchanged before Father Piinkowski.

The parsonage was decorated for the occasion with baskets of spring flowers, palms and candelabra. Miss Rowe was given in marriage by her father. Matron of honor was Mrs. John Weber, sister of the bridegroom. Paul Frederick Gabor served as best man for his brother.

Wedding gown of the former Miss Rowe was of floor length white slipper satin made princess style with a short train. Lace insets extended the full length of the dress. The lace yoke at the back joins the leg-o-mutton sleeves which end in a point over the hands. The gown is fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a shirred bodice trimmed with tiny pearl-centered rosettes. A beaded Juliet cap held in place the bride's long veil. Her only jewlery was a gold cross, gift of the bridegroom. Miss Rowe's bridal bouquet was of white roses and carnations tied with a large, white satin bow and centered with a corsage of the same flowers.

As the bride's attendant, Mrs. Weber was attired in a floor length gown of aqua chiffon. The long, full skirt extends from a lace inset at the waist. A lace yoke extends into the long, full sleeves. In her hair Mrs. Weber had a band of yellow roses and daisies. Her bouquet also was of yellow roses and daisies with blue delphinium.

Mrs. Wise appeared at her daughter's wedding in a navy blue sheer dress with navy blue and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Navy blue also was worn by Mrs. Gabor, mother of the bridegroom. She had matching accessories and a gardenia shoulder corsage.

Wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the ceremony. There were 40 guests. Table decorations included baskets of spring flowers, a four-tier cake and tall, white candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabor are now on a motor trip through the west. For traveling, Mrs. Gabor chose a light plaid suit with red accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will be at home after May 10 at the South Diamond street address. The bride will reside with her parents while Mr. Gabor is in service. He will be inducted into the army on May 16.

Mrs. Gabor attended Mansfield public schools. The bridegroom was graduated from St. Peter's high school. Both are employes of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. Orie Garverick, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Teeter, of Crestline, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Teeter, Perrysville, and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Wise, Bellville.

Typographical Auxiliary Buys Many War Bonds

Mrs. Harold Bracey, 317 Altamont avenue, entertained 11 members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Typographical union Tuesday evening at her home. During the business session Mrs. Harriett Ferbrache, chairman of the war activities committee, reported on the war bond campaign and displayed the war bonds already purchased by the auxiliary.

Hearts were the diversion of the social hour and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Robert Olds, Mrs. E. P. Cusic and Mrs. Eldon Becker. Later a luncheon was served at one long table with a centerpiece of lilacs and green appointments. The next meeting will be held June 2 at the home of Mrs. Cusic, 171 Westwood avenue.

Sorority Plans Special Breakfast

Arrangements for the Mother's day breakfast to be served at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 7:45 a. m. on May 10, were completed at last night's meeting of Alpha Pi Sigma sorority which was held at the hotel.

Following the short business session bridge was played. Miss Marjorie Miles was recipient of high score prize. Hostesses for the next meeting, which will be held on May 19 at the same place, will be Miss Marie Kalbfleisch and Miss Miriam Johnson.

DISPLAYS VALUABLE MUSEUM PIECES

Nationally Known Authority on American Glass Talks to University Women Regarding Her Own Research.

ORIGINAL research and valuable museum pieces portraying 'Frontier Arts and Crafts In Ohio" were program features when Mrs. Earl Knittle of Ashland talked to the American Association of University Women at the Women's Club last evening.

Dinner was served at long tables attractively centered with arrangements of tulips and honeysuckle. Other spring flowers such as lilacs and lilies of the valley added to the attractiveness of the club room in which the program was presented.

Mrs. Charles Kuntz, president of the Mansfield branch, conducted the business session. Miss Emma Waring, high school activities chairman, announced that the annual Senior Tea sponsored by the A. A. U. W. each spring will be held on May 26 at 4 p. m. at the First Congregational parish house on Park avenue west.

A poster featuring a full page from the New York Times on national A. A. U. W. felowship awards was displayed. Mrs. Kuntz anounced that many of the local members are serving as 'minute men" in the present bond pledge campaign and that University Women are in charge of the staff for the China Relief Headquarters during its campaign. The president urged all members to seriously consider the Blood Donors' plan and to register at Red Cross headquarters. Mrs. E. C. Balyeat, Mrs. George Keil and Mrs. R. J. Welsh were named as members of the auditing committee.

Mrs. Earl Gaar, social chairman, announced that Mrs. Henry Huston, Mrs. Paul Eliot, Mrs. F. H. Maxwell and the Misses Marjorie Campbel, Leila Graeff, Lenore Mills and Hester Robinson will serve as hostesses for the Senior Tea.

Speaker of the evening was introduced by Mrs. Thomas Hoffman, program chairman. Mrs. Knittle, noted authority on early Ohio arts and crafts is author of several books and booklets and many of her collections have been subjects of articles by other writers. She has 22 different collections of her own in her home in Ashland and she has helped in the collections for the Garvan Gallery of Fine Arts at Yale university.

Mrs. Knittle advised would-be collectors to have an objective and a sequence in their collections. She warned that collectors should be on guard for "misinformation" written by persons who are not authorities on the subjects presented.

Taking only the period from 1787 to 1847 to cover in her talk before the local University Women, Mrs. Knittle discussed firearms, dishes, tin and copper articles, pottery, chairs and chests, glass, pewter, coffin making, tomb tables, and tomb table chippers.

Some of the interesting and valuable pieces which she exhibited last evening included a small firearm made and used before 1830; several samples of burled wood dishes; a rush light with burled base one of the oldest lighting devices); candle sconces from the first Presbyterian church in the Western Reserve; many pieces of the earliest Ohio pottery; one of the first three pieces of glass made in Ohio; another lighting device used on the early river boats; unusual round candle mold; and the figure head, 'My Gal Sal," from a lake boat.

Mrs. Knittle pointed out that the eastern museums have fine collections of Ohio arts and crafts, but that Ohio itself is far behind in the knowledge of her own history.

Band Parents Club Announces School Concert

The public is invited to attend the concert to be given by the members of the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school band at the school auditorium on Friday evening, May 29 at 8 p. m., according to announcement made last evening at the regular meeting of the Band Parents club.

Mrs. T. L. Hockett, vice president, conducted the business session which was attended by 60 members. This was followed by program of songs and tap dances given by Gene Gump, well known entertainer, who is in Mansfield for a short time after working the past several months in New York. He is a former Mansfielder. Games were played in the gym following the meeting in the cafeteria.

This was the final meeting until the fall season. The committee in charge of the session last evening was composed of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Young, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Traxler, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Laser and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, May 7

ALTHOUGH THE astral influences for this day are expansive, warming and promising, with encouragement for important aims and objectives, yet there is sign of mental and emotional disturbances or agitations which might prove a frustrating force having a disappointing influence on best hopes and wishes. Indulgence in highly nervous and intellectual ideas or tensions as well as other extravagances or excesses may prove perilous to fortune, credit and peace of mind. Business, as well as social, domestic and friendly relations may be disturbed unless handled with good judgment, frugality, moderation, and precaution.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of many expansive, hopeful and encouraging influences, which may be diverted to lucrative, happy and productive fulfillments if a tendency to mental and emotional stresses as well as to extravagance, indulgences and over-zealous tactics is curbed. Reasonable, temperate, friendly and considerate behavior is recommended if excellent auguries are to be permitted to operate.. Be alert to fraud and entangling alliances in all contacts and there may be definite growth and profit, with much pleasure.

A child born on this day should have much efficiency, mental ability and ambition, but its over-expansive, extravagant and zealous nature may prove its undoing in both business and private life, unless given early direction in the use of its fine talents.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Ian Shawn Rue!" When my almost hysterical relief had spent itself, following my discovery that my long lost brother-cousin Jack Bickett and Charles, the mysterious aid of Professor Diswell pretending to be the old man's servant, were one and the same person, I repeated to myself with a tender, amused smile the queer syllables which Sadie, the long distance supervisor, had given to me.

I remembered clearly the day I first heard them Jack and I had had a tempestuous quarrel, in which his dark hair and what Dicky much later called my "Titian locks" came very near being pulled When a compulsory peace had been established by my mother, who had a little Gaelic in her bloodstream, she first reprimanded me, albeit with an almost imperceptible twinkle in her eye, for "unladylike conduct," then with a more pronounced twinkle summoned Jack before her.

"John, the Red-Headed."

"If you were in old Ireland," she told him, "they would call you 'Shawn Rue'—John, the red, or red-headed."

"But I'm not red-headed," Jack protested wildly—I could see even now his aggrieved, boyish face most vividly—"Margaret is, but my hair's dark."

"They wouldn't have been referring to the color of your hair but to your temper," my mother told him blandly, while Jack's face flushed as red as the name my mother gave him.

"How do you spell it?" I asked eagerly, seeing before me unlimited possibilities of teasing Jack. But my mother looked at me with cold disapproval.

"It won't do you any good to know," she said, "for if you ever call Jack by that name without his giving you permission, I shall punish you severely.

Uses the New Name.

"The real spelling wouldn't do you any good anyway," she went on. Sean wouldn't mean John to you and I've forgotten how to spell the ward for red myself. So just spell the name the way it sounds, 'Shawn Rue.' But remember, not unless Jack gives you permission."

It didn't take long for me to coax Jack into giving me permission to use the name which appealed so strongly to my childish fancy. And after that, as my mother also had used the name—at first playfully, and then as a tender nickname for the boy she loved as if he indeed had been her son—Jack was called "Shawn" as much as "Jack."

But until I had heard the use of that name reported from the lips of the long distance telephone operator, I did not know he had ever used it with anyone outside our little family circle. Now, however, the proof was in my hands that Professor Diswell, his old preceptor, also knew him as "Shawn Rue."

I believed it beyond the bounds of possibility or imagination that there could be two old friends of Professor Diswell both bearing that significant cognomen. No; Jack Bickett was the hunted man who had come to his former professor for sanctuary.

I felt that I could not wait to get back to my father's big armored car and confront Jack. I owed him something, I told myself grimly, for keeping his identity from me, and especially for the suppressed amusement which I had noticed in his manner.

I did not wonder now at his amusement. In the old days a photographic memory had been my outstanding trait, yet I had not recognized in the man the boy who had been brought up with me from infancy.

True, he had changed greatly, and his long, unkept, graying haid and straggling beard were still a cause of mystification. But I resolved grimly that I would not give my kinsman the satisfaction of telling him how I had solved his secret I would make him believe, for a while at least, that I had known him from the first.

My impatience was flaming now, and I went to the door and flung it open to find Gus standing upon the doorstep.

"I was just coming to get you, Missis Graham," he said. "The captain, he say everything ready now, so you can go"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

POOLING INFORMATION

To determine his plan of action, a general assembles all of the information available to him, and from it deduces other facts about the enemy which he does not directly know. Those secondary facts, which are merely inferred, may be the most vital of all. It is the same with a declarer at bridge who must pool his knowledge from various developments before he can build a winning plan.

At two duplicate tables, West made that same third hand opening bid of 1-Diamond, and South wound up at 4-Spades. Only one of the two declarers, however, made his contract, although in each case West led the heart Q to the A and two spade tops followed.

Both declarers lost one trick each in spades, hearts and diamonds. The unsuccessful one also lost a trick in clubs when the finesse of the J failed.

The winning declarer realizing that the lead of the heart Q by West showed that East held the K, reckoned that this gave West a pretty weak hand for an opening bid, and that, therefore, West very likely held the club Q, which would win a finesse. He therefore eschewed the finesse, and built a squeeze. To the fourth trick, he led a small spade, letting the Q win and the heart 6 went to East's K. When the club 5 was returned, he took it with the K, so as to leave the A as an entry into dummy for a squeeze. Next he led the diamond 5 and as he hoped, West came in with the A and returned the Q to the K. The heart J furnished a club discard, the diamond 8 was ruffed and the last spade laid down. South also held then the club J-9, with the A-8 and the diamond 10 in dummy West could not discard the diamond J without making the 10 good, so he tossed the club 10. Thereupon the diamond 10 was discarded from dummy and the final two tricks were made by clubs.

'Sport Podge' by REX HESS

"I told those high school coaches at our meeting last winter that if they didn't watch out, the Principals association would soon be running the entire athletic show in Ohio, and cutting it down to next to nothing."

And with this remark, Mansfield high Track Coach Harry Mehock drew a letter from his pocket. and declared, "Maybe they'll believe me now."

* * *

The letter was from Ohio High School Athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend, and related the recent action of the Principals association in going on record as opposed to all state championship athletic contests for the duration of the war.

Townsend said the athletic board had decided to go ahead with the usual program for next year, but the action by the principals will now demand further consideration by the board.

* * *

"Pretty soon they'll be cutting us down to four football games a year, and reducing travelling to short trips," moaned Mehock.

(It may be repeated here again that Principal Glenn Rohleder of Mansfield high school is not among those favoring a reduction in the athletic program.)

* * *

Townsend's letter was in response to a bid by Mehock to bring the district basketball tournament here next spring, since Sandusky has given up the tourney.

Townsend advised Mehock to get in touch with Principal Lloyd M. Kaufman of Attica, chairman of the district board, and also to write to other members of the district board.

The state commissioner said Mansfield's decision to discontinue the Mansfield Relays had occasioned much regret among the Ohio high schools, but that he saw little chance of ever bringing out-of-state schools to such a meet again.

* * *

So far as I have been able to learn, the continued drive by the principals to eliminate long trips for athletic teams, debaters, bands, orchestra, etc, has not yet been made to include vocational agriculture departments, whose judging contests often take them far from home, and whose 4-H club work also calls for long trips on occasion.

Can it be that the principals don't care to buck such powerful organizations as the Grange, Farm Bureau, and other farm groups? And prefer to hit at departments which do not have organized outside backing?

* * *

If the vocational ag boys and girls can maintain some semblance of independence, more power to 'em. I still think there's something educational in long trips which cannot be gained in the school room.

* * *

Coach Guy Van Nostrand, who took over the Butler high post late in the basketball season, has found good reason to respect the community spirit of Butler merchants.

Recently 18 Butler merchants chipped in on a fund to buy gold basketballs for the high school cage team.

* * *

The bowling banquet season marches on. This evening Mansfield high school's national championship team will be given a dinner at Max Diner, while the Empire Steel league dines at Martin's Tavern.

Tomorrow night the Moose league will have its dinner.

I'll not be hitting the steak circuit this evening the big all-school track meet at Stadium field offering a pleasant diversion.

TULSA CLUB RATES AS TEXAS SPOILER

TULSA, Okla —(AP)—The Tulsa baseball team is becoming the spoiler of the Texas league.

Hoots Evers, Beaumont outfielder, had hit safely in every one of the season's first 17 games, and boasted a .341 batting average.

* * *

Sunday Tulsa hurlers terminated the streak with vengeance. Evers was held hitless in both ends of a doubleheader.

Then the Oklahomans dumped Shreveport, seeking its fifth consecutive victory, 4 to 2.

French Stars for Brooklyn

Gives Four Hits In Duel With Youngster.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

THE headlines today acclaim laughing Larry French as the star of the Brooklyn Dodgers' 3-1 conquest of the St. Louis Cardinals and the attention is well deserved.

The affable lefthander, who will be 33 years old in the fall and is approaching the end of the line in the major leagues, outpitched young Howard Pollet in a sizzling struggle at St. Louis. He not only hurled four-hit ball that should have netted a shutout, but he twice singled home Dodger runs including the one that broke a tie in the 11th inning.

* * *

But the forgotten man in the Brooklyn repoicing was Catcher Mickey Owen. The little dynamo who caught 128 games last year and helped guide Whit Wyatt and Kirby Higbe to 22 victories apiece has been in eclipse this spring.

* * *

It hasn't been because he dropped that infamous third strike in the world series. Rather it has been because the Dodgers acquired two additional, and better hitting, backstops in Billy Sullivan and Rookie Cliff Dapper. Manager Leo Durocher decided to use Sullivan, the veteran from Detroit, against righthanded pitchers, and has been putting Dapper's .471 batting average to work against the southpaws whom Owen ordinarily would have opposed.

As a result Owen had worked only 45⅔ innings in eight games up until yesterday, when he got the call against his former St. Louis teammates.

Although a .188 hitter, Owen seized upon his opportunity and made two of Brooklyn's seven hits. In the seventh inning he singled with one out. He was forced by Peewee Reese, but French came along with his first hit and knocked Reese all the way home from first. Then in the 11th after Joe Medwick was safe on a fumble by Jim Brown, Owen again singled to put Medwick into position to score on another single by French. Owen himself tallied on a single by Billy Herman.

* * *

This was the first time in nine games a Brooklyn pitcher had gone the route and it was the first time Brooklyn had won since Owen last started—which was at Cincinnati Thursday when Sullivan was hurt. In halting the Dodgers' four-game losing streak French (and Owen) would have had a shutout except for an error by Herman with two out in the eighth inning, letting a runner score from second.

* * *

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who had crept within a half game of first place in the National league during the Dodgers' slump, were walloped 7-1 by the Boston Braves, who made 16 hits, including four by former Pirate Paul Waner, and had the benefit of six-hit pitching by Jim Wallace, up from Hartford of the Eastern league.

Bucky Walters, who had lost four straight, pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-1 ten-inning decision over the New York Giants. He and Hal Schumacher each allowed five hits.

The Phils beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, taking advantage of five walks, five stolen bases and three errors, plus nine hits.

The Boston Red Sox staggered the Cleveland Indians into their third straight defeat, 13-3, by collecting 18 hits for 28 total bases.

* * *

Joe DiMaggio had himself a day at Yankee stadium, in leading New York to a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox and lift the world champions back into second place in the American league. After DiMaggio had put the Yanks back in the game with two homers, he tripled the winning run across in the ninth.

The victory set the stage for a two-game series opening today between the Yanks and Indians with first place the prize.

The Detroit Tigers were herded out of second by the three-hit hurling of Russ Christopher as the Philadelphia Athletics won 2-1.

Washington beat the St. Louis Browns 5-3, although held to five hits. The Browns made four errors

Springfield Team Gets 2935 Series

COLUMBUS—(AP)—An Ohio entry, the Borden's Dairy team of Springfield, blasted a 2935 series to pace Tuesday's keglers in the American Bowling Congress tournament. The count, good for 24th place in the standings, resulted from games of 1032, 929 and 974.

The day's high singles score was tallied by Max Barczak of West Milwaukee, Wis., with 651. Victor Shewman and George Kiewasser of Ann Arbor, Mich., led contemporaries in the doubles with 1266.

Tournament leaders remained unchanged.

RIGNEY TO ENLIST

CHICAGO—(INS)—Johnny Rigney, No. 1 pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, reclassified to 1-A and slated for induction in the army next month, will seek instead to enlist in the navy, it was reported today.

UMP'S A ROBBER? NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

BOISE, Idaho — (AP) — The Gowen field air base baseball team was in a tight game at the state penitentiary with the prison nine. Protesting a close decision, Lt. Carl W. Robbins screamed: "That's robbery." "What d'ya expect," retorted an inmate, "that's what the ump is here for."

Tribe Defense Cracking Up

Indians Continue to Hit, So Do Opponents.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The hard-hitting, weak-fielding Indians dragged themselves out to Yankee stadium today for a crucial two-game series against the world champions.

With Cleveland a half game in front, the series probably will decide which team will top the American league, temporarily at least.

It wasn't losing three straight to the Boston Red Sox, yesterday's shellacking being 13 to 3, that upset the Redskins as much as the poor fielding which they displayed in Bean Town.

Cleveland made nine errors in the series, four costly infield miscues coming yesterday. Unrecorded errors of judgment were numerous, too.

Three defeats in a row is not new to the boys this year. After winning the season's opener in Detroit, the Tribe lost two to the Tigers and one to the Chicago White Sox before they hit their 13-game winning streak.

Jim Bagby, who has five straight victories this season, started the Tribe on the triumph trail then, and he was called on to twirl today.

Hitting has been the least of Tribal worries. They have distributed 71 hits pretty evenly during the last five games, yesterday's 12 being the "low."

But yesterday's 12 were not bunched, the Redskins scoring single markers in the first, sixth and seventh frames.

The first tally came on an error and singles by Kenny Keltner and Buster Mills. Jeff Heath opened the sixth with a triple and crossed the plate on Mills' outfield fly. Roy Weatherly scored from second on Keltner's single to left center in the seventh.

Boston collected 18 hits off Vernon Kennedy, Harry Eisenstat, Clint Brown and Charlie Embree. Six runs in the third inning did all the damage.

McAFEE REPORTS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla — (AP) — George McAfee, former all-America football player at Duke university and star halfback for the Chicago Bears of the National reported for active duty at the Jacksonville Naval Air station. McAfee made 11 touchdowns for the Bears last season to tie the league scoring record.

Rookie Star Was R. B. I. King on Coast

Fernandez stages show for cameraman.

* * *

(By Central Press)

BOSTON — Perhaps he won't win honors as the "Rookie of the Year," but Frolan (Nanny) Fernandez, sensational shortstop of the Boston Braves, certainly is the most talked-about star recruit now.

When Fernandez, born of Spanish parents in 1918 at Wilmington, Cal. slapped out eight hits in a row, he really made baseball observers take notice. His spectacular clubbing put him among the five top hitters in the National league and his play afield is pretty to watch.

* * *

Fernandez, called Nanny in baseball, was one of the brightest stars in the Pacific Coast league last year. He was runner-up to Johnny Moore in batting, hitting for .327, and he led the league in batting in runs, totaling 129.

* * *

A natural ball player right from the start, the young Brave shortstop began playing pro ball with Yakima, Wash., in 1939 after graduating from a Wilmington high school. San Francisco bought him the next summer for a big price and the youngster would up the season batting .304 for the Seals.

An all-around athlete, Fernandez starred in basketball and track while at school. He did enter business college after high school but the lure of baseball was too great and he quit to play with Yakima.

Fernandez is a right-handed batter and thrower, stands five feet nine inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

Alley League Holds Banquet

Votes Co-operation With City Association.

Closer co-operation with the City Bowling association was decided upon last night by Transportation league keglers at their banquet at the Sons of Herman.

As a sanctioned league, the Transportation circuit has been a member of the city association, but has not sent a representative to association meetings.

The league instructed its secretary to attend all association sessions in the future.

The question of war-time substitutes in bowling lineups was left for decision if and when such substitutions are needed to replace men in armed service.

"You'll find that you'll have to make a lot of concessions to war conditions next winter," President Clarence Williams told the bowlers. "You'll just have to be good sports about it, and go ahead and bowl. And we'll have to do the best we can to keep the league going."

Williams was re-elected president of the league last night, Howard Bosh was named secretary, and Junior Huck, treasurer.

Prize money was distributed, with the top share going, of course, to the league champion Jake Miller quintet.

Ankrum Triple Wins This One

Former Brave Blasts Deciding Blow In 9th.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(AP)—Charleston made it three straight over the Erie Sailors and stood with Springfield, O., in the Mid-Atlantic league's unbeaten column today.

Erie seemed headed for its first win of the season last night when Charleston Second Baseman Bobby Ankrum, ex-Mansfield Brave, pounded out a triple with two on in the ninth to give the West Virginians a 4 to 3 win, as they swept the series.

Springfield's Cardinals, playing at home, registered a 5 to 4 victory to take the third of a three-game series with the Canton Terriers. Andy Holenic held Canton to seven hits and batted in the winning run in the sixth inning.

Dayton toppled Zanesville from the unbeaten class with a 6-4 victory. The game was at Zanesville.

ROOKIE ROSTER

VERNON STEPHENS, infielder, St. Louis Browns . . . Recalled from Toledo, where he batted .281 and fielded brilliantly last year . . . He has been impressive with the Browns this year and has broken up several games with long hits . . . A righthanded batter, he broke into baseball right out of Long Beach, Cal., high school in 1937.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Instead of the Dixie Stakes down at Pimlico today, they ought to be calling it the "dough handicap." . . . Whirlaway, Challedon and Mioland, the big three in the field, have won almost a million dollars and if Whirly wins, he'll catch up with Sun Beau, the second-highest money winner of all. . . . Although the leading golf pros can't fill all requests to play war relief matches, their plans call for each to get in at least one match a week. . . . Paul Dean's comeback at Houston has been so successful that he's about ready to try starting a game. He reports he has no trace of the sore arm that dropped him out of the majors. . . . Bill Martin, new sports editor of the student paper at Auburn, has his wife, Sara, as his first assistant. At least, that's what he thinks.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE.

Players Wanted to Oppose Auditors

Johnny Villella today issued a call for softball players for an all-star team to play the Ferguson State Auditors of Columbus here on Sunday, May 24.

The game will be played at an open park, and it will be necessary to pass the hat to raise the guarantee demanded by the Auditors, who won the state championship two years ago.

Players wishing a tryout with the all-star team should report at Liberty park next Monday at 6 p. m.

Indus League Set for Play

Ten, Maybe 12, Teams Ready For Softball.

Stepping into the softball breach with what promises to be one of the strongest organizations in the history of the sport in Mansfield, the newly formed Industrial league was just about set to go today wth 10 and possibly 12 teams facing the barrier.

At a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building last night, ten teams were definitely listed for league play.

* * *

They were: Barnes Manufacturing, Tappan Stove, Humphryes, Mansfield Tire, Ohio Brass, A. & P., Hughes-Keenan, Art Rattan, Dominion Electric, and N.Y.A camp.

* * *

It was understood Westinghouse and Farm Tool were prepared to enter teams, but they were not represented at the meeting. Secretary Don Cram of the city softball commission planned to contact these teams today.

The commission set next Tuesday night as the final deadline for everything, including filing of entries, posting of fees, and filing of eligibility blanks.

Thus far only two teams, Lutherans and Congregationalists, have entered for a church league.

Big Schnoz Comes Home

Lombardi Returns to Cincy as Boston Brave.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— A somewhat streamlined Ernie Lombardi was welcomed back to Crosley Field today as the Braves and Reds opened their 1942 competition with the first of a two-game series.

The big Californian who backstopped for the Reds for a decade was benched yesterday while Rookie Catcher Clyde Kluttz's three hits helped Boston to a 7-1 victory over the Pirates.

But regardless of how "Big Schnoz" fares with the Beantowners, he's still a hero here and certain to get the nearest thing to an ovation the slim turnouts these days can give.

The Reds closed a three-game series with the New York Giants yesterday by clinching the rubber game 2-1 in 10 innings. The victory—fourth in the last five for the Reds — was gratifying, but more heartening was Bucky Walters' pitching.

Walters has lost four games and been driven from the mound in three straight starts prior to yesterday.

Bucky's sinker and fast ball were working again and he set the Giants down with five hits.

"Prince" Hal Schumacher gave up five bingles, too, but three of them in the game-ending 10th.

Bucky scored the run which won him his first game, singling to center and making the rounds on singles by Lonnie Frey and Mike McCormick.

Elmer Riddle, gunning for his second victory in five starts, and Dick Erickson, winner of one start for the Braves, were today's probable hurlers.

BACK WITH GIANTS

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Pitcher Bill Lohrman, traded by the New York Giants to the St. Louis Cardinals last Dec. 11 along with $55,000 in cash and Catcher Ken O'Dea for Johnny Mize, was back with the Giants today. His old club re-acquired him by purchasing his release from the Cardinals for an unannounced sum.

PITCHING PAUL PLAYS FOR SAILORS

ST. JOSEPH, Mo — (AP) — Pitching Paul Christman, all-American quarterback at Missouri in 1939, will return to action before home state fans this week — as an opponent.

Christman plays first base on Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes Naval Training station baseball team that has games scheduled at St. Joseph and Columbia.

Shut Out and Diver Go Again

Whitney Colts Rank As Preakness Favorites.

By MASON BRUNSON

BALTIMORE —(AP)— There's a striking parallel-in-reverse between Mrs. Payne Whitney's Preakness entry of Shut Out and Devil Diver and another pair of colts which made history in the race eight years ago, when a Kentucky Derby winner was beaten by his own stable mate.

This is not to predict that Shut Out, the Derby winner, will be whipped by his stable mate, Devil Diver, in the 52nd running of the $50,000-added Preakness Saturday but it is true that the Greentree stable connections still feel that Devil Diver is the better of the two.

* * *

Shut Out and Devil Diver are approaching the Preakness in a situation similar in some respects to that in which Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade and High Quest came to Pimlico back in 1934.

* * *

Cavalcade, regarded as the best horse in Mrs. Sloane's Brookmeade stable, had won the Derby easily from Discovery and Agrarian, while High Quest, winner of the Wood Memorial, had been kept out of the Kentucky classic and saved for the Preakness.

The original plan was for Cavalcade to take rest after his Derby triumph and for High Quest to represent Brookmeade in the Preakness. But Mrs Sloane changed her mind and elected to win with Cavalcade and thus become the first woman to capture both the Derby and the Preakness in the same year.

She and the public wanted Cavalcade to win. But High Quest had other ideas. He led all the way and defeated Cavalcade by a nose in a terrific stretch battle to finish the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:58 1-5 — a record which still stands.

What happened to Mrs. Sloane in the Preakness in 1934 happened to Mrs. Whitney in the Derby this year. Devil Diver was considered Greentree's main threat but wound up sixth in a roughly run race while Shut Out, the stable's "ugly duckling" drove to a handsome victory.

* * *

Handlers arriving here with the Greentree horses were still "high" on Devil Diver, but not too confident about Shut Out.

* * *

Of course, the stable must figure out beating a lot of other horses, too, including Al Sabath's Alsab, Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina Orphan, second and third, respectively, in the Derby, and several others which ran out of the money in the Kentucky classic.

Stamps Awarded Rifle Winners

War Savings stamps will be awarded instead of medals in the Crawford county rifle tournament to be fired on the Mansfield Gasco range Saturday and Sunday. Secretary L. A. Arntz announced today.

* * *

Eight matches are on the two-day program, to be fired under N.R.A. rules, with the exception that there will be two shots fired on each bull's eye to conserve targets under war-time emergency.

* * *

Entry fees will be 25 cents per match for each team member.

The range will be open from 12 noon until 10 p. m. Saturday, and from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday.

Unbeaten Teams Tangle

Bucyrus, Mansfield Boast Perfect Records.

TWO undefeated track teams tangle tonight at Stadium field when Mansfield's Tygers meet the Redmen of Bucyrus in the feature division of the Mansfield all-school track carnival.

Mansfield opened the season with a tie with Newark, then took Sandusky, Columbus East, Akron Garfield and Columbus North into camp.

* * *

Bucyrus has victories over Tiffin Columbian, Ashland and Kenton to its credit.

* * *

Tonight's big track show starts as a twilight affair at 7 o'clock, but will wind up under the lights.

In addition to the high school dual meet, John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed junior high schools will compete for the city championship of the city in a dual meet, and the annual grade school meet, already reduced to six contestants in each event, will be run off.

Best marks made in the field events of the grade school preliminary qualifiers will stand as final in event they are not bettered tomorrow night.

* * *

All the fanfare which once marked the famous Mansfield Relays will be brought into play for this first all-school event which is planned as an annual affair.

* * *

Wanda Hess, recently elected track queen, will be on hand with her court to award championship ribbons to the individual winners in the three divisions of the meet, loud speakers will blare the results and give running scores, and Stadium field will be jammed with contestants in scanty pants.

Bill Keefe will be there with his gun and a good word for the runners as official starter. The state of Ohio will not be combed for big name judges as in the case of the Mansfield Relays, but capable judges have been found among the Downtown Coaches.

And, incidentally, the Downtown Coaches are donating the ribbons which tonight's champions soon will be wearing.

Birds Blast Brewer Streak

Milwaukee Handed First Home Defeat.

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee's invincibility on its own grounds has been blasted by Columbus and the big bat of Lou Klein.

The American Association pace setters had not been defeated at home this year in 12 starts. But Klein altered this situation yesterday and also snapped the Brewers' latest winning streak at six by clouting two home runs that helped Columbus win, 7 to 5.

It was the second time Milwaukee had scored six straight victories without being able to grab the seventh. The first string came at the start of the season.

Yesterday's setback, which the Brewers tried to overcome with a ninth-inning rally, sliced the leaders' margin over second place Kansas City to one and a half games.

Kansas City might have reduced the edge even more, but weather forced a postponement of its game with Toledo. The Louisville-Minneapolis contest also was postponed.

At St. Paul, however, the Saints and Indianapolis spent the day dealing each other shutouts. In the first game of a double-header Steve Rachunok of the Indians won a 1-0 pitching duel with Vedie Himsl. Bill Swift gave St. Paul a 9 to 0 victory in the second.

Murder On the Avenue

By Carolyn Wells

(Copyright, 1942.)

SYNOPSIS

The Park Avenue apartment of Hugh McCleod and his pretty wife Alma, is the mecca of social pilgrims. But to their parties they invite only men and women of merit or charming personalities. Alma is younger than Hugh. Among their regular guests are Van Dyke Haynes, an architect; Brand Herrick, a lawyer; Ogden Murray, Nadine Glenn, who regards herself as a glamor girl and is in love with Herrick, and Doris Day, an obliging person whose lack of malice sets her apart from most of her associates. At a small party given by the McCleods Doris sees a shy, attractive girl, who is unknown to the others. In a conversation with the girl she learns she is Una Deane, a protege of Martha Malcolm, a well-known painter and somewhat eccentric, who brought her to the McCleod home. Miss Deane attracts Murray, who later introduces her to Alma and Hugh. Alone with Murray again, Una asks him whether Alma really is in love with her husband, who she alludes to as "that granite statue." Murray's answer is evasive. Soon he tells Una he is going to kiss her. She rebuffs him, saying, "Men kiss me only when I want them to." However, before leaving the apartment, she says she believes they will meet again, but that it must depend on chance . . . Foo Chow, Chinese butler, informs Hugh that his sister Emma wants to see him. Hugh's father, Angus, is seriously ill. He has suffered an attack. Emmy and Angus live with the McCleods. Alma is not affectionate with them.

CHAPTER II

From his point of vantage in the curve of the staircase, Hugh stood looking at the people and the rooms. It was such an attractive scene that he wondered why Alma should want to build a big house on Long Island.

Of course, her reasons didn't matter, if she wanted it she should have it, but what about his father and Emmy? Would Alma want them in her new home? He must have a talk with her about this.

His devotion to Alma and his devotion to his father and sister pulled him in different directions, and he often thought to himself that this was the only crumpled rose leaf in his smooth-running existence.

He supposed he would have to build two houses. Well, if that would satisfy his three dependents, it would be all right by him.

"Could I but stand where Moses stood
And view the country o'er."

The crooning voice was of someone coming up the stairs, and Hugh turned toward him.

Brand Herrick laughed. "I couldn't help it," he said. "You looked so satisfied, and yet something troubled you."

"Yes, I am troubled." Hugh was thinking of his father. "But it is nothing I can help. Not going, are you?"

"I think so. It's been a great party. And now I've a chance, I'm going to say something to you. I may be sorry, but I think it's my duty."

"The surest way to get into trouble is to do something you think is your duty."

"I'll take a chance. It's about Mrs. McCleod."

"Why do you call her Alma when you speak to her, and call her Mrs. McCleod to me?"

Hugh was smiling, but there was an edge to his voice.

Herrick refused to take offense. "I don't know why I do. I daresay I thought it more polite. I'll write to Mrs. Post and ask advice on that point of etiquette. But, seriously, I want to say this: Don't let Alma see so much of Ogden Murray. I say this for her good and yours. He is not the right sort."

"Are you the right sort to defame a man, yet give him no chance to speak for himself!"

"Oh, if you're going to take it that way."

"I take it on the face of it. And now you will tell me more."

"I think there is no more to be told. You can find out for yourself the status of the man, and you will discover that I speak the simple truth."

"That won't do. You must tell me of what you accuse him?"

A slight difference of tone was in Hugh's voice; it made Herrick answer him gently.

"I don't accuse him, but I fear he is concerned in some money matters with Mrs. McCleod, and I thought and still think you ought to know about it."

"I agree. What sort of deal is on?"

"That I don't know. I thought it right to tell you. I am going home now. Good night."

"Oh, I say! Stay on for a bit. I'll have a word with Alma and then, who knows? I may want to apologize to you!"

"What is this solemn conclave? Here on the stairs, of all places!"

Alma came running up the steps to them, Nadine with her and some men following.

Brand had turned from his host and had started up the stairs. Alma ran after him.

"Oh, Brand," she said, "come along with me into the rumpus room for a minute. I want to show you a statuette Gerald Vance made for me."

"I don't want to see it. His stuff is rotten. And I'm leaving now. I have a busy day ahead, and I must get some sleep."

"I've hardly seen you at all tonight. Did you evade me on purpose?"

"What a question! You know I didn't. But Ogden Murray was with you early and often, and he is not one of my pals."

"If you had come along, he would have gone—I would have made him go. Do be nice to me, Brand. I can't think what has come over you."

"Nothing has come over me. But I'm sure you ought to be downstairs now. People are leaving, you know."

"Hugh can speed the parting guests."

She led him into the room and closed the door. "Now tell me what is the matter with you."

"Nothing. But I will tell you one thing. You're making a big mistake in your dealings with Ogden Murray."

"What do you mean by dealings? It sounds unpleasant."

"It is unpleasant. And you know what it means. What is he doing for you that involves payments of money?"

Alma froze at once.

"You have no right to ask me such a question," she said, in a hard voice. "How dare you be so intrusive?"

"Now, now, don't act like a dunce. Murray is trying to get you to subscribe to a swindle—or something like that, and I am warning you before you get in too deeply."

"When you say 'or something like that,' I can see you know nothing about it, and so please say nothing more about it. You are not my financial advisor and I don't want you to be that!"

"What do you want me to me?" Brand realized his mistake as he finished his question.

"Oh, I want you to be my friend—my—"

* * *

The last word was spoken so low that its sound was lost as the door-knob turned and the door swung open.

Nadine came in, exclaiming, "Oh, here you two are! I bet with Hugh I'd find you locked in this room!"

"If the door was locked how did you get in?" Brand asked, taking it lightly "We're discussing modern art."

"So I see." Nadine looked around, but found no art objects in view.

"I cannot think, Nadine," Alma said, coldly, "what business it is of yours, where I am or with whom. I believe this is my own home and I have a right to all its rooms. If my husband owes you a wager, I am very sure he will pay it. Why don't you go and ask him now?"

"I think he wants you to come downstairs, Alma." Nadine's voice was silky. "Some of the more important guests are taking leave, and you ought to be there."

"I ought to be there!" Alma stared at her. "Since when have you been my instructor in manners?"

"Not very long, but I resign. You need to learn the rudiments, I teach only advanced pupils."

Both. Murray and Haynes had come in with Nadine. But Alma paid no attention to any of them.

She said, carelessly, "Come on, Brand," looked at herself in a wall mirror, and left the room.

Brand followed, perforce, and Van Dyke Haynes looked admiringly at Alma as she passed him.

Hugh was, in the rotunda, gracious and courteous, and when Alma came and stood by his side, he included her in his farewells to the guests and the pair surely needed no instructions in polite pleasantry.

There were more people still present than Alma had thought, and she set herself about making them happy. She was charming to a few older people who were still there, and she made a delightful impression on some others who knew her slightly; and Nadine came down to find the McCleods' star in the ascendant.

Hugh was beaming with pride in his lovely wife, and Alma, for reasons of her own, showed a delightful camaraderie with Hugh.

Several persons who had been about to go, delayed their departure, and indeed, the party seemed to begin all over again.

But Alma grew tired of it, and to create a diversion, she proposed they go up to the rumpus room and play games.

"Yes," Nadine said, "and show us the statuette that Gerald Vance made you. I didn't see it up there!"

"Too bad, dear," Alma said. "Come along now and see it."

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

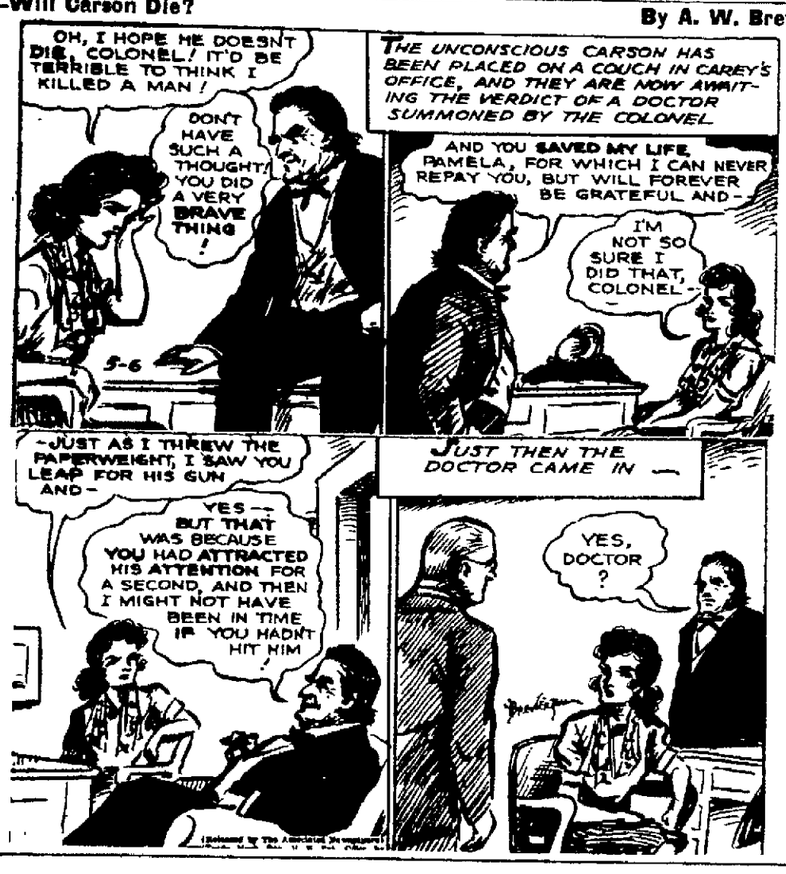
PAM—Will Carson Die? By A. W. Brewerton



OH, I HOPE HE DOESN'T DIE, COLONEL! IT'D BE TERRIBLE TO THINK I KILLED A MAN!
DON'T HAVE SUCH A THOUGHT! YOU DID A VERY BRAVE THING!
THE UNCONSCIOUS CARSON HAS BEEN PLACED ON A COUCH IN CAREY'S OFFICE, AND THEY ARE NOW AWAITING THE VERDICT OF A DOCTOR SUMMONED BY THE COLONEL
AND YOU SAVED MY LIFE, PAMELA, FOR WHICH I CAN NEVER REPAY YOU, BUT WILL FOREVER BE GRATEFUL AND—
I'M NOT SO SURE I DID THAT, COLONEL—
5-6
—JUST AS I THREW THE PAPERWEIGHT, I SAW YOU LEAP FOR HIS GUN AND—
YES— BUT THAT WAS BECAUSE YOU HAD ATTRACTED HIS ATTENTION FOR A SECOND, AND THEN I MIGHT NOT HAVE BEEN IN TIME IF YOU HADN'T HIT HIM!
JUST THEN THE DOCTOR CAME IN — YES, DOCTOR?

LIMITED SCALE TRADING RULES STOCK MARKET

Trends Prove Irregular With Changes Either Way Held To Minor Fractions.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Irregular trends ruled the stock market in today's dealings with transactions on a limited scale.

Down fractionaly were American Telephone, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Steel and Boeing Airplane. Recording minor gains were Baltimore & Ohio, International Harvester and Bethlehem Steel.

Of interest to students of industrial trends was the report of the Edison Electric Institute showing power consumption for the week ended May 2 somewhat above the previous week. This marked a reversal of a long downward trend.

It was a contra-seasonal rise which lifted the Associated Press index of power production to 157.6 per cent of the 1929-30 average from 156 3 per cent the previous week. A year ago the measure stood at 141 2. ..

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Chosen Representative—Rev. F. Ralph Miller of Lexington, Ky., former Mansfield resident, has been chosen to represent Muskingum college at the inauguration of the new president of Kentucky university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Miller, 199 West First street.

See First Aid Work — Members of the Mansfield Kiwanis club will see a demonstration of rescue and first aid work by the Ohio Public Service company rescue squad at their luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Joy Herbert will be program chairman.

To Attend Meeting—Four staff members of the Mansfield Public Library will attend the meeting of the North Central district of the Ohio Library association in Oberlin, Friday. They are, Miss Lois MacKellar, Miss Myra Lorimer, Mrs Emily Norwick and Miss Mary Louise Bricker.

Receives Permit— The Jacob Wolf company today obtained a building permit at city hall to remodel the interior of an Ohio Brass company building on North Diamond street. The improvements are estimated to cost $6,000. A permit was also issued to Ernest Adams for repairing a residence at 638 Bowman street, and to Peter Smith for the construction of a garage at 241 Arch street.

Nurses' Meeting—Nurses of the city health department, Mansfield General, hospital and Visiting Nurses' association will be represented at a meeting of the Ohio State Nurses' association in Columbus Friday and Saturday. They include Miss Gayle Rife, president of District 5 of the association, Mrs. Edwin C. Geiger and Miss Mabel Selfe of Mansfield General hospital; Miss Marjorie Palmer of the Visiting Nurses and Miss Sybil Scott of the city health department.

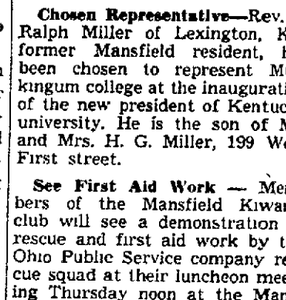
Acid Indigestion
What many Doctors do for it
When excess stomach acid causes gas, sour stomach or heartburn, doctors prescribe the fastest-acting medicines known for symptomatic relief—medicines like those in Bell ans Tablets. No laxative. If your very first trial doesn't prove Bell-ans better, return bottle to us and get double your money back. 25c.

FLAKY SCALP
Relieve loose dandruff by applying antiseptic Cuticura Ointment, and shampooing with pure mildly medicated Cuticura Soap. Promotes lustrous-looking hair.



Mother's Day . . . One of the Greatest Days In American History.

She's the only person in the world the Army, Navy and Air Corps take off their hats to. Celebrate Mother's Day this year by looking and acting a little better than you ever did, for the Mother of an American is the Noblest Gift of God.
